

STARS AND STRIPES®

Maryland hands
No. 2 Duke
its first loss

Back page

Troops' James Gist, Blue Devils' Lee Melchionni

Rumsfeld dismisses troop levels report

Page 8

Schweinfurt pays tribute to 1-4
Cavalry soldier

Page 4

Sgt. Kyle William Childress

Volume 63, No. 284 © SS 2005 G

FRIDAY, JANUARY 28, 2005

50¢

Navy plans revamp of evaluation criteria

Emphasis to shift to sailors' day-to-day job performance

Page 3

Heavy snow blankets Europe

Page 10

Two horses run through the deep snow on a meadow near Bayrischzell, Upper Bavaria, southern Germany, on Wednesday. Heavy snowfalls added a thick layer of fresh snow to the Upper Bavaria region overnight.

AP

STARS & STRIPES

COMING SOON

Scene on Sunday

Winter isn't a time
to forget style

Scene on Sunday

Who's responsible for Groundhog DayDon't miss a single issue.For home delivery, call DSN 349-8437STARS & STRIPES
Your Hometown Newspaper

TODAY IN STRIPES

Abby, Annie's Mailbox.....	24
American Roundup	18-19
Classified	25-26
Comics	22-24
Crossword	23
Faces	21
Horoscope	22
Letters	14
Opinion	14-15
Sports	27-36
TV listings	20
Weather	17
Your Money	16

News Tracker ... What's new with old news

States

Archdiocese sex scandal case: A man testified that the now-defrocked priest at the center of the Boston Archdiocese sex scandal would wait for him in the bathroom with the lights off, pull him from catechism classes and rape and fondle him in the church pews, confessional and rectory.

The man, now 27, recalled Wednesday how he saw Paul Shanley silhouette against the hallway light, his hands outstretched in a priestly pose. He said the abuse began at age 6 and continued until 1989, when he was 12.

Robert Blake trial: Robert Blake's handyman was afraid police were going to raid his apartment after the actor's wife was found shot to death, a witness testified at Blake's murder trial in Los Angeles.

The handyman, Earle Caldwell, had left town before the May 2001 shooting death of Bonnie Lee Bakley, according to his former girlfriend, Lisa Johnson. She said Caldwell called her the day after the shooting.

"He wanted me to go to his apartment and remove his computer, all of the paperwork on his desk, notes on a bulletin board and some sweet shirts," Johnson told jurors Wednesday. "He was afraid police would serve search warrants and he would lose his possessions."

Gay custody battle: A woman whose daughter was adopted by her former lesbian partner has lost a court battle to regain custody in Houston.

The Texas Supreme Court declined Friday to hear a request by Julie Ann Hobbs of Galveston to dismiss a lawsuit filed in May by Janet Kathleen Van Stavern for joint custody and standard visitation of the 6-year-old girl.

Hobbs and Van Stavern were together for eight years, ending in February 2004. Hobbs conceived the girl through artificial insemination and gave birth in 1998.

A court date regarding Van Stavern's request for joint custody and standard visitation is set for April 4.

Michael Jackson trial: The prosecution wants jurors in Michael Jackson's molestation trial in Los Angeles to have their own screening of a British television documentary about the pop star, a show that the defense denounced as "heavily edited in the most sensational fashion possible."

Broadcast in February 2003, "Living With Michael Jackson" was the trigger for an investigation leading to Jackson's child molestation case. It contains footage of Jackson holding hands with the child who has alleged he was molested by the entertainer.

New BTK evidence: A package purportedly tied to the BTK serial killer was found after a local television news station received a postcard directing it to the scene, a television station reported.

The Wichita, Kan. station KAKE-TV broke into its afternoon programming Tuesday to air footage of a cereal box leaning against a traffic sign along a road, but did not disclose its contents at the request of police.

The postcard mailed to the station had the name "S. Killett" and the address of BTK's first victims, the Otero family, written on the return address, KAKE reported.

Schwarzenegger approval ratings: California Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger, right, shakes hands while visiting the PATH Residential Service Center, near downtown Los Angeles, on Tuesday. A survey from the Public Institute found 60 percent of Californians favor the way the Republican governor is doing his job, but 49 percent of Democrats disapprove. Six in 10 independent voters still give Schwarzenegger high marks, but the number of independents who disapprove of him has almost doubled, from 18 percent last year to 32 percent.

Paid columnists: President Bush ordered his Cabinet secretaries not to hire columnists to promote administration agendas after disclosure that a second writer had been paid to assist an agency.

"All our Cabinet secretaries must realize that we will not be paying commentators to advance our agenda," Bush said at a news conference. "Our agenda ought to be able to stand on its own two feet."

Bush's remarks came a day after syndicated columnist Maggie Gallagher apologized to readers for not disclosing a $21,500 contract with the Health and Human Services Department to help create materials promoting the agency's $300 million initiative to encourage marriage.

Three-strikes sentence: If she were a prosecutor anywhere else in California, San Francisco District Attorney Kamala Harris wouldn't get a second look for using the state's tough "three-strikes" law against a man who spent more than six years in prison after setting his 6-year-old son on fire.

But with Charley Charles, formerly known as Charles Rothenberg, heading to trial Thursday on weapons-possession charges that could send him to prison for life, Harris faced a battle against the social climate in one of the nation's most tolerant cities.

Charles' case is also watched because of his past. When he was known as Charles Rothenberg, he soaked his son with kerosene and set him ablaze in a Southern California motel amid a custody dispute with the boy's mother. The boy, David, survived but suffered third-degree burns over 90 percent of his body.

Suspended judge resigns: Concord, N.H., Judge Franklin Jones, suspended for groping five women at a conference last year, resigned hours after a committee emphatically recommended that he not get his job back.

"I wish to again express my apologies to those who have been impacted by my inappropriate conduct," the Rochester District Court judge said in a letter to Gov. John Lynch and other state officials.

World

Zhao memorial service: China said Thursday it will hold a weekend memorial for ousted Communist Party leader Zhao Ziyang as authorities kept a tight watch on activists in an apparent effort to stem any public commemoration.

The "body farewell ceremony" will take place at 9 a.m. Saturday at Babaoshan Cemetery in Beijing, the main cemetery for revolutionary heroes, said a Chinese Cabinet official who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The official said foreign reporters are barred from the event, which has a lower status than a state funeral.

Trouble in Sudan: The U.N. envoy to Sudan on Thursday called for the immediate release of three Sudanese employees of an American Christian aid agency who were abducted last month in South Darfur. The workers, well-drillers of the Maryland-based Adventist Development and Relief Agency International, were captured at gunpoint on Dec. 16, the aid agency said.

Weapons ban in West Bank: The Palestinian leadership banned civilians on Thursday from carrying weapons, its latest step aimed at reining in militant violence, as the Palestinian leader said he was awaiting Israel's response on a proposal for a mutual cease-fire declaration.

If enforced, the ban on weapons would be a strong move against militant groups, whose gunmen often openly brandish their automatic weapons in the streets of Gaza and the West Bank.

Stories and photo from The Associated Press

IF YOU'RE UP... WE'RE OPEN

24-Hour convenience is as close as your phone

24-Hour toll-free Contact Center • 00800-4728-2000

Service
CREDIT UNIONwww.strips.org
24-Hour Contact Center
00800-4728-2000

NCUA

Everyone loves a parade

KENT HARRIS/Stars and Stripes

SpongeRoberta, more commonly known as Aviano Elementary School kindergarten teacher Raisa Kowalski, leads a group of children Thursday in the annual Carnevale parade outside the school. Kowalski's class joined kindergartners from Carol Rushing's and Laura Janese's classes to walk, bike or pull wagons full of stuffed animals back and forth along a route lined with other classmates and parents.

Smog leads Vicenza officials to limit downtown traffic for 1 week

BY KENT HARRIS
Stars and Stripes

Vicenza is taking the unusual step of restricting traffic in its downtown area for one week in an attempt to cut down on air pollution in the northern Italy city.

Air pollution is worst in the first three months of the year because of changing weather patterns and increased emissions from home heating systems.

Communities are mandated by Italian law to take steps when there's too much smog, and those steps often involve limiting car traffic. Vicenza — a city of about 115,000 that's home to the Southern European Task Force (Airborne) and a community of about 7,000 Americans — has decided that from Wednesday until Feb. 8 only emergency vehicles, taxis, and buses can drive in the older part of the city.

The restrictions don't include places such as Caserma Ederle or any other installations with Americans on them, but Americans who live, shop or eat in the downtown area will be affected.

The city's mayor, Enrico Hüllweck, has vowed in local papers that he will be walking to work as well. According to a report by Agence France-Presse, residents have also been told to keep their thermostats at 20 degrees Celsius (68 Fahrenheit) during the period to reduce furnace emissions.

Vicenza had already decided to restrict driving in the downtown area on Thursdays and Fridays through the end of March.

The city is far from alone in trying to combat pollution by limiting cars. Milan, Florence, Venice, Verona, Turin and just about every other city of any size in the north of the country has some kind of restriction in place limiting traffic.

In past years, some cities have restricted traffic by license plate, allowing those with even numbers on even days and odd numbers on odd days.

Others, such as Milan, prohibit all traffic on certain days of the week, such as Sundays.

Those staying at hotels in the affected areas are still generally allowed to park their vehicles where they're staying. But drivers of all nationalities might not get to drive where they want to, depending on local circumstances.

E-mail Kent Harris at: harris.k@mail.mil, estripes.osd.mil

Navy to alter sailors' evaluations

Job performance to carry more weight than testing

BY SANDRA JONTZ
Stars and Stripes

NAPLES, Italy — Sailors soon will see some major changes that will impact both their wallets and the way they're judged for promotion, the Navy's top personnel officer told sailors Thursday at Naval Support Activity Naples.

The service is changing how sailors' performance evaluations and promotions will be handled, which "won't happen tomorrow" but might be a reality within a year, Vice Adm. Greg Howeing said during a morning all-hands meeting with sailors from southern Italy bases. Howeing is winding down a European tour of bases.

Leaders evaluating sailors' accomplishments will put more emphasis on their day-to-day job performance rather than on criteria such as time-in-grade, time-in-service and "test-taking strategies," Howeing said. But the latter criteria still will be considered.

Sailors who might be highly proficient in their jobs but horrible at taking tests and thus penalized, for example, will fare better under the change. A pilot program already in place mirrors the system used for flag officers, who are judged heavily on their job performance.

Howeing discussed the changes during two all-hands meetings — the first for sailors E-6 and below and the second for those E-7 and higher.

The lower enlisted sailors were a much fierrier group, asking pointed questions on a variety of topics ranging from the Navy's plan to merge ratings, training and promotion opportunities, retirement options, and how to qualify for bonuses.

Petty Officer 1st Class Marilyn Gellagani praised the idea of performance-based evaluations.

"I think it's fair. Sailors who are motivated, those who do things to improve themselves, go to school, do extra off duty — they will be recognized," she said. "I really like it. It will motivate people to compete with each other. We're moving to a very competitive Navy, and those who help themselves will be the ones to advance, and those who don't are going to be behind in the race."

Capt. Jeff Landis, spokesman for Marine Corps Manpower and Reserve Affairs, said officials have not made or discussed major changes to the Marine Corps' promotion system, but do consider job performance as a major factor when making those decisions. Corps officials have made minor adjustments to the system in recent years, like updating fitness requirements and increasing the value of professional military education when considering promotions, Landis said.

The Air Force uses a point system for enlisted promotions, according to Capt. David Small. Points are awarded for time in grade, time in service, test results, decorations, and performance reports.

While performance reports are "heavily weighted" in the promotion process, Small said he could not immediately quantify what percentage that represents in an airman's total score.

Army officials were not available to comment on their service's enlisted promotion process.

In Naples, Howeing also said the Navy is broadening its Selective Re-enlistment Bonus program, updating the bonus amount for some ratings and including others that before were ineligible.

The Navy has faced challenges getting sailors in hard-to-fill jobs such as nuclear specialists, special operations, and explosive ordnance teams, he said.

The service is considering raising the maximum SRB payout from $45,000 to $60,000 for a six-year re-enlistment commitment for Navy SEALs, and also considering expanding the SRB to ratings such as aviation boatswain's mate, damage control hull technician, said Lt. Kyle Raines, a Navy Personnel Command spokesman.

The Navy also is merging ratings, or jobs, to make broader categories and give sailors more career opportunities while cutting down on redundancies, Howeing said.

But Petty Officer 2nd Class Tim Witter said he was concerned that sailors already proficient in one rating will be penalized if ratings merge, especially if tested on material for promotions in skills they don't perform before ratings were combined.

Adequate training would be provided to get sailors proficient in all duties, Howeing said. The performance evaluation changes would help lessen any impact of the merges, he said, because test scores won't be as heavily considered.

In other topics, he said the Navy would like some latitude when it comes to retirement qualifications. Last year, Congress denied the Navy's request to change the retirement eligibility requirement, which by law requires all servicemembers to serve a minimum of 20 years to qualify for retirement benefits.

But as technology improves, "some skill sets are not going to be needed in the 21st century," he said, but couldn't provide any specific examples.

Instead of keeping sailors in for the sake of keeping them until the 20-year mark, or having them get out without rewarding a decade or more of military service, Navy leaders want leeway to offer retirement opportunities at, say, 12 or 15 years of service, he said.

Welcome back home, Daddy

Pfc. Kelly Westfield, of Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 95th Military Police Battalion, based in Mannheim, greets his 2-year-old daughter, Sade, with his wife, Shannon, Thursday afternoon in Mannheim, Germany. About 90 members of the headquarters staff returned from Iraq this week. The 230th Military Police Company, part of the 95th Military Police Battalion, is expected back to Kaiserslautern next month.

RUSS RIZZO/Stars and Stripes

1-4 Cavalry soldier honored in Schweinfurt

BY STEVE LIEWER

Stars and Stripes

When a job needed doing, Sgt. Kyle Childress always stood up and led.

He headed the sniper team for the 1st Infantry Division's 1st Squadron, 4th Cavalry Regiment, manned the gun on his Bradley fighting vehicle and led the house assault teams more than 150 times during his 11 months in Iraq.

On Jan. 21, Childress' leadership cost him his life. A man opened fire from inside as he led his platoon into a house in Ad Duhaylah, Iraq, in search of enemy fighters. He died later at a combat hospital in Balad.

Friends from the 1-4 Cavalry's rear detachment gathered Thursday at an Army chapel in Schweinfurt, Germany, to remember a man they described as quiet and tough, a soldier's soldier.

"Anyone in this unit and the men of his platoon would tell you when the going gets tough, it is a blessing to have Kyle around," said Staff Sgt. Bradley Shadden, a 1-4 Cavalry soldier who served with Childress in Iraq until he was wounded. "His bravery was unmatched."

Childress

Childress grew up in Terre Haute, Ind., where he graduated from high school in 1994. Five years later he enlisted in the Army, where he trained as a scout. He served with the 3rd Infantry Division before moving joining 1-4 Cavalry's Troop A in mid-2002. He deployed to Iraq with the unit last February.

Shadden recalled Childress' arrival at 1-4 Cavalry, where he stood out because he said so little.

"He was one tough nut to crack," Shadden said.

He let few people get close. When he did speak, friends said, he made it count. He might offer a pungent joke or a blunt criticism, but he chose his words carefully and didn't sweat the small stuff.

In a tribute read at the service, Childress platoon sergeant, Sgt. 1st Class Kenneth Garcia, told the fallen soldier what he would remember most about him.

"You kept us laughing with your no-nonsense approach to life, and you made it clear about how you felt when we had to accomplish something that did not make total sense," Garcia said.

"You would say 'That's [expletive]!' But you would still pack it up and get you and your men ready, no matter what. You always got the job done."

Childress' superiors said he had a gift for soldiering. He could learn any battle skill quickly and well. He led more than 1,000 hours of urban combat operations.

KRISTEN CHANDLER TOTH/Courtesy of U.S. Army

Sgt. Jeff Cullison serves as an honor guard, while soldiers line up to pay their last respects to Sgt. Kyle Childress, who was killed last week in Iraq.

"He was capable of doing lots of tasks to a high level of expertise," said Capt. Cory Mack, his troop commander, in remarks read at the service. "On raids he normally served as the No. 1 man — the most dangerous position — in the four-man stack. He did this because he was the best at it."

Childress is survived by his parents,

Keith and Nancy Childress, a brother, Jason, a sister, Gretta, and his German fiancée, Kerstin Beck.

He was posthumously awarded the Bronze Star, the Purple Heart, the Army Commendation Medal and the Good Conduct Medal.

E-mail Steve Liewer at: liewers@mail.strips.esd.mil

Memorial honors Aviano AF officer

BY KENT HARRIS

Stars and Stripes

AVIANO AIR BASE, Italy — Friends and community members gathered Thursday to remember a 27-year-old Air Force officer who died in an automobile accident last week.

Second Lt. Donyal V. Brooks leaves behind an active-duty husband, Staff Sgt. Nicholas Brooks, and two young children. The youngest child, Nicholas Antonio II, was born Jan. 9 — just 12 days before the fatal accident.

Maj. Richard Nolan, commander of the 31st Contracting Squadron, gave an emotional tribute to one of his airmen.

"Her untimely death has rocked our squadron," he said. "It's simply too hard to put into words what she meant to us."

Aviano was Donyal Brooks' first assignment after earning her commission. She had entered the Air Force after graduating from high school in 1995.

She met her future husband at a newcomer's briefing at Beale Air Force Base in California. The couple were married in 2000, and Dominique Antoinette, now 4, was born later that year.

Donyal left the service after her tour ended with the goal of getting a college degree and re-entering as an officer.

KENT HARRIS/Stars and Stripes

Mourners sign a placard bearing the picture of 2nd Lt. Donyal V. Brooks during a memorial service Thursday at Aviano Air Base, Italy. Brooks died in an automobile accident Jan. 21, leaving behind an active-duty husband and two young children.

"She worked hard, impressed her bosses and earned a two-year ROTC scholarship," Chaplain (Maj.) Jimmy Sanders told about 100 people gathered in the base chapel.

Sanders said by graduating from Charleston Southern University — while her husband was stationed at Charleston Air Force Base — Donyal Brooks achieved a goal partially inspired by her grandfather. John Evans served for more than 30 years before retiring as a technical sergeant. He originally joined the Army Air Corps that eventually became the Air Force.

Staff Sgt. Beth Caporaletti, a member of the 31st Communications Squadron with Nicholas Brooks, said Donyal was an inspiration for her hard work and desire to better herself.

"Donyal was such a good role model for women," she said.

"One for everyone really, but women especially."

Caporaletti visited her in the hospital a few weeks ago and was surprised by how quickly she appeared to recover from giving birth.

"I just feel that I was so blessed to have her influence in my life," Caporaletti said.

Donyal Brooks was born Oct. 6, 1977, in Columbia, S.C. Her parents, Darrell and Virene Evans, still live there. A memorial service will be held in Columbia before Brooks is buried in Tacoma, Wash.

A memorial fund has been established at Global Credit Union. Donations should be made payable to the "Donyal Brooks Memorial Fund."

Donations can also be made in care of the 31st Contracting Squadron: 31CONS/LGIC Unit 6102 Box 140 APO AE 09604-2140.

E-mail Kent Harris at: harris@mail.strips.esd.mil

Italy unions explain why strikes called off

BY ANDREA JONTZ

Stars and Stripes

NAPLES, Italy — Italian labor union officials called off two planned work stoppages after U.S. officials agreed to sit down at the negotiating table, said a labor union representative in southern Italy.

"We didn't solve our problems and we're still angry with the Americans, but we canceled the strikes hoping that the [upcoming] meeting will be the solution to our problems," said Biagio Montefusco, a union leader who represents Italian employees.

Who work at bases in the Naples region and south in Naval Air Station, Sigonella, Sicily.

"Once they said they would have a meeting, we didn't think it was logical to have people lose more money," Montefusco said.

Union leader

"Once they said they would have a meeting, we didn't think it was logical to have people lose more money."

tions with unions representing the Italian work force as well as continue to explore opportunities for addressing mutual concerns," said Randy Wayne, the force civilian personnel director and chairman of the JCPC in Italy.

A JCPC, made up of U.S. officials from the various military services, is established in each country where U.S. forces have bases and employee local national associations.

Last Friday, hundreds of Italian employees went on strike in the first of what were three planned strikes, marching to bring attention to growing complaints such as inadequate pay and pensions and pending layoffs.

Two more stoppages were planned. About 4,400 local nationals work on U.S. military facilities in Italy, and are represented by one of two unions. Italian workers say they are seeking improvements to pension plans, want a pay scale that mirrors their American counterparts' general schedule pay scale, which also rewards good work, and a stop to the planned elimination of 123 positions throughout Italy.

E-mail Andrea Jontz at: jontz@mail.strips.esd.mil

The "JCPC welcomes the opportunity to discuss any communication

MICHAEL ABRAMS/Stars and Stripes

The Stars and Stripes newspaper press in Griesheim, Germany. Starting Feb. 8, Stripes will contract out the printing that is currently done at its European headquarters.

Stripes contracts out printing

Economics cited; Europe edition's content, deliveries won't be affected

BY WARD SANDERSON

Stars and Stripes

GRIESHEIM, Germany — Stars and Stripes is turning over the printing of its daily newspaper in Germany to an outside contractor.

After more than 55 years of printing the news, the paper will shut down its print plant that serves troops in Germany and some other parts of Europe by Feb. 8. Printing of the paper will be assumed by Frankfurt-area contractor Hurriyet, a subsidiary of the Turkish Dogan Group. Hurriyet will replace Stripes' production staff of about 40 employees.

"The reader shouldn't notice anything, either in delivery time or content," Publisher Thomas Kelsch said Thursday.

Kelsch told newspaper employees during meetings this week that while circulation in places such as the Middle East has been on the rise, copies sold in its once-core market of Germany have plummeted.

He attributed the drop to the drawdown of troops that began in the early '90s and, more recently, the deployment of Germany-based troops to the Middle East.

"The problem with that low circulation as it relates to this operation is that so many of our costs are fixed," said Kelsch, reading from a statement. "It takes approximately the same number of people to run the presses whether we're printing 100,000 copies or 10,000 copies. Eventually, it reaches the stage where it simply is not economically feasible to maintain our own press and staff for such a small press run."

According to Stripes' circulation department, the European and Middle East editions print about 79,000 copies per day. Including the Pacific edition brings the newspaper's total circulation near 94,000 copies per day.

Remote print sites and contractors already operate in Kuwait, South Korea, Iraq, Afghanistan and Italy, leaving the daily output of the Griesheim plant around 14,000 copies. About 10,000 paid copies go to the shrinking German readership, and the rest to Belgium, Britain, the Balkans, the Netherlands and several smaller markets.

The current Stripes press was installed in 1996, but the facility has been in use since Sept. 27, 1949. The paper had continuously printed throughout World War II, but didn't move into its current European headquarters until a few years later.

The timing of the closure shocked press employees, who today are split about evenly between Americans and Germans. Many Americans were part-time workers, selected by the Germans tended to be career employees. There had long been talk of layoffs and a closed press, but workers were shocked at the announcement's timing.

"It's been out there for over a year. Of course they informed us, but the timeline kept changing," said Astrid Herbert, head of the Stripes' work council. "That's been very hard on the employees... The real problem is that we have a work force where people have been employed for 20, 25 years — at least."

Kelsch said he regretted the decision, but said he believed there was no alternative.

"I feel very strongly that these workers who are long serving, 20-plus years, they've been so valuable to us that it's really been painful to reach the end of the road with them."

He said that the production workers would receive "everything you are entitled to in terms of severance."

He said there would be no effect on other departments of the newspaper.

E-mail Ward Sanderson at: sandersonw@mail.estripes.com.sml

GAO report points to Pentagon waste

BY CHRISTOPHER LEE

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The U.S. government's biggest department is also one of the most prone to waste, fraud and abuse, raising concerns about the effectiveness of many of its programs, according to a new report by the Government Accountability Office.

The Department of Defense accounts for eight of the 25 federal programs, functions or offices that appear on the GAO's 2005 "high-risk" list. Two of its functions — inventory management and weapon systems acquisition — have been on the list of problem programs since 1990.

"This is unacceptable and should not be tolerated," Comptroller General David Walker said Tuesday at a news conference. He was joined, in sentiment and at the lectern, by several lawmakers, including Sens. Susan Collins, R-Maine, Joseph Lieberman, D-Connecticut, George Voinovich, R-Ohio, and Daniel Akaka, D-Hawaii; and Reps. Tom Davis, R-Va. and Henry Waxman, D-Calif.

Walker noted that the Pentagon also has several other programs that landed on the list, a compilation of the biggest managerial trouble spots across the federal government issued by the GAO every other year. He said the department's failure to turn around many of the problem areas "results in billions of dollars in waste each year and inadequate accountability to the Congress and the American taxpayer."

Areas of concern at Defense include financial and contract management, the personnel security clearance program, management of military bases, and modernization of its computer systems, the report found.

Cheryl Irwin, a department spokeswoman, said Tuesday that officials need time to study the report before commenting. "We are certainly reviewing it. It's a little bit premature at this time for us to have a full response."

New to the high-risk list this year is a government-wide problem of ineffective sharing of information related to homeland security.

The report cited the "slow pace" of information sharing between fingerprint databases at the Department of Homeland Security and the Justice Department. It also said that inconsistent agency policies and overlapping sets of data would impede efforts to consolidate information from 12 terrorist and criminal watch systems maintained by nine federal agencies. The report's findings "essentially say to us that we haven't achieved the homeland security law the requirements to achieve," said Lieberman, the ranking Democrat on the Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee. "The risk here is to the personal security of the American people at home."

The GAO did say that information sharing has improved since the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks. Congress created Homeland Security to serve, among other things, as a repository for information.

Lieberman said the report provides a guide for agencies to improve and, in some cases, an indication of where Congress should step in with legislation.

Defense policy undersecretary Feith resigns

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — A principal architect of the Defense Department's postwar strategy in Iraq announced Wednesday that he will leave his post this summer.

Douglas Feith, undersecretary of defense for policy, said he is leaving for personal reasons, citing the desire to spend more time with his four children. "For the last four years, they haven't seen me a lot," Feith said Wednesday. Feith is a longtime Washington lawyer and part of a group of neo-conservative foreign policy experts known for strong support of Israel and who had long-held aspirations of unseating Saddam Hussein.

Supporters have praised Feith and the group, which includes former Reagan defense aide Richard L. Perle, for their willingness to take risks to confront autocracy in the Middle East and for their hard-line position against giving up Israeli-held land to the Palestinians.

Detractors have criticized Feith for being unrealistic about the cost and outcome of invading Iraq and have asserted that he played a critical, behind-the-scenes role in exaggerating the manipulator of operations in Afghanistan and Iraq, called him "the stupidest guy on the face of the Earth" in his recent book. Feith and Frank's tangled often, including over a proposal to train 5,000 Iraqi soldiers to be interpreters and guides during the war.

Feith

Feith said Wednesday that "controversy about important national security issues is to be expected. That's part of the job." He counted as his greatest achievement his work in devising the Pentagon's overall counterterrorism strategy, including that used in Iraq and Afghanistan.

He doesn't have any definite plans, he said of his post-Pentagon life. "I just have some notions."

MOTORCYCLES AMERICA
WWW.MOTORCYCLESAMERICA.COM

2005 MODELS
NOW IN STOCK!!

- Direct Factory Ordering
- Factory Warranty
- Special Military Pricing
- Over 60 Models in Stock
- Europe Wide Delivery
- Immediate Delivery
- Financing Available

PRE-ORDER YOUR

2005
MODEL NOW!!!

Ramstein Showroom
06371 613406
Kindsbacher Str48
sales@motorcyclesamerica.com
(Opposite Esso Station)

Vogelweg Showroom
0631 940050
Pariser Str. 35b
(Opposite Vogelweg BK)

Get connected...

With Europe's finest automobiles!

Pentagon Car Sales

...GERMANY

KAISERSLAUTERN

Kaiserstrasse 1
67661 Kaiserslautern
Tel: 0631 351 900

HEIDELBERG

Hebelstrasse 3
69115 Heidelberg
Tel: 06221 144 911

MANNHEIM

Waldeckweg 3
68309 Mannheim
Tel: 06131 724 6901

WIESBADEN / MAINZ

Ludwig-Walker-Str. 14
55252 Mainz-Kastel
Tel: 06134 567 800

...ITALY

AVIANO

Via Pordenone 48D
Aviano (PN) 33081
Tel: 0434 676 613/4

VICENZA

Viale Della Pace 254B
Vicenza (VI) 36100
Tel: 0444 305 888

NAPLES

Via Eduardo Scarfoglio, 7/I
80125 Naples
Tel: 081 762 3868

SIGONELLA

c/o Hotel Sigonella Inn
Suite 101/102 opposite NAS 1
95040 Motta S. Anastasia (CT)
Tel: 095 713 0410

LA MADDALENA

Piazza Bambin Gesù 11
07024 La Maddalena (SS)
Tel: 0789 723 026

...SPAIN

ROTA

Plaza Del Triunfo 6
11520 Rota (Cadiz)
Tel: 956 841 678

Pentagon Car Sales offer thousands of dollars in savings for the US military community stationed overseas...

- Premium European US Spec Automobiles
- Premium European US Spec Motorcycles
- Tax-Free Factory Direct Pricing
- Overseas & Stateside Delivery Programs
- Easy To Use Internet Ordering Service
- Serving The US Military Since 1984
- American Owned & Operated

Come visit a Pentagon Car Sales showroom near you!

Drive Into Your Dreams

... be connected!

www.PentagonCarSales.com

Sales@PentagonCarSales.com

Nation mourns helo crash victims

Virginia loses four 'brothers'

The Associated Press

LYNCHBURG, Va. — Four Marines from a combat engineering company were killed and four injured during an ambush on the deadliest day in Iraq for U.S. troops.

The four were killed in Iraq's Anbar Province and were among 36 American troops killed in Iraq on Wednesday. Thirty-one were killed in a Marine helicopter crash in the western desert.

Capt. Jamie Wagner of Company C, 4th Combat Engineer Battalion, on Thursday identified the dead as: Sgt. Jesse Strong, 24, of Albany, Vt., a student at Liberty University in Lynchburg; Cpl. Jonathan Bowling, 23, of Stuart; Cpl. Christopher Weaver, 24, of Spotsylvania; and Lance Cpl. Karl Linn, 20, of Chesterfield.

"The Marine Corps is truly a band of brothers and we lost four brothers from this company," Wagner said. "But we continue to do our jobs and continue to carry on as Marines."

Company C, part of the 4th Combat Battalion based in Baltimore, was activated in June 2003, Wagner said, and left for Iraq in September 2003. They were to return home in the spring.

Courtesy of Linn of the Marine Corps

U.S. Marine Lance Cpl. Karl Linn of Chesterfield, Va., poses with his rifle at his base in Iraq's Anbar Province. Linn was killed in an ambush on a convoy he was riding on Wednesday near Hadithah, Iraq.

A reporter embedded with those troops, Jim Dolan of WABC in New York City, said the four were killed when insurgents ambushed a Marine convoy leaving the town of Hadithah, northwest of Baghdad, hitting a vehicle with a rocket-propelled grenade.

Wagner, senior active duty adviser with Company C, identified the injured as: Cpl. Charles Gentry, Cumberland, Tenn.; Sgt. William Meyers of Mooresville, N.C.; and Lance Cpl. Mark Miller of Bedford. Each was hospitalized with minor injuries, Wagner said. Cpl. Timothy Franklin of Lynchburg was also treated for injuries.

California military town stung by deaths

The Associated Press

OCEANSIDE, Calif. — This seaside military town reacted with grief and resolve Wednesday at the news that 31 servicemen were killed when a transport helicopter crashed in the deadliest single incident yet for U.S. forces in Iraq.

"It's terrible, but it comes with the territory," said Carl Dreihelbs, 52, an Oceanside native who served in the Navy and said members of his family have fought in every U.S. war since the American Revolution.

"I'm afraid that when people hear this, their inclinations will be to retreat. But I say charge," Dreihelbs said.

Some of the victims were members of the 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing, based at Marine Corps Air Station Miramar in San Diego. Further details were withheld pending notification of families.

The crew chief onboard the helicopter, Lance Cpl. Tony Hernandez, deployed to Iraq last summer and was scheduled to return to Camp Pendleton in March, said his father, Leroy Hernandez, of Canyon Lake, Texas.

He said he last spoke with his son on Sunday.

"He said it was cold, that he didn't like the weather, that he was working his butt off — the usual gripes," Hernandez said. "He didn't say a lot because he didn't want anyone to worry."

Hernandez said his son tried to join the Marines after he graduated from high school but was rejected because he was too heavy. After visiting with a recruiter again, he was soon running hard and dieting to trim nearly 25 pounds off his frame. He had lost another 20 pounds by the time he finished Marine boot camp in California.

"We went to his graduation and we almost didn't recognize him," Hernandez said.

He said his own memories of fighting in the Vietnam War weighed heavily on him after his son deployed to Iraq.

"I knew [the war] was going to escalate — it was pretty much guaranteed," he said. "Unfortunately, it's the young kids who end up paying the price."

Crash killed 27 Marines based at Kaneohe Bay

By B.J. REYES

The Associated Press

KAILUA, Hawaii — A sudden

and painful reminder of the war in Iraq hit this state with word that 27 Marines from one base had been killed in the worst loss of Hawaii-based troops since Pearl Harbor.

All but three of the 30 Marines and one sailor killed when a helicopter crashed Wednesday in a desert sandstorm had been deployed from the Marine Corps base at Kaneohe Bay, according to Sen. Daniel Akaka, D-Hawaii.

"We are particularly feeling the effects of the war in Hawaii," Akaka said in a statement from his Washington office.

"My heartfelt thoughts, prayers and deepest sympathies go to the families of each Marine."

The crash shook the Windward Oahu community near the base as residents awaited the names of the dead. "Your heart just sinks," said Bobbie Jerome, 34, whose Marine husband has not been deployed to Iraq.

The Kaneohe Bay base is under the operational control of the 1st Marine Division at Camp Pendleton, near Oceanside, Calif. Some of the victims also were based in San Diego.

While the Marines come from hometowns across America, no single military attack or accident stands out as hitting Hawaii harder since the 1941 attack on Pearl Harbor that left 2,390 people dead and 1,178 wounded.

The crash dramatically increased the death toll of servicemen with Hawaii ties in Iraq and Afghanistan to 78, including 43 Marines from the Kaneohe base.

In Oceanside, Amber Warlock, 31, a former Marine whose husband is a Marine pilot currently stationed at Camp Pendleton, said she was stunned when she she heard about the crash on television.

"You hear about people dying every day in ones and twos," she said. "But 31 is just too much to comprehend."

Back in Kailua, Lee Bowman, 25, a Navy medic who served in Iraq last year, said of the victims: "My heart goes out to them. I feel it's going to be hard to replace them."

Associated Press writers T.A. Badger in Texas and Michelle Margolis in California contributed to this report.

Sgt. David Tramill of Kaneohe, Hawaii, reflects Wednesday on the news that 30 Marines and one sailor were killed in a helicopter crash in Iraq.

Rumsfeld dismisses story on GI levels

By PATRICK DICKSON

Stars and Stripes

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld on Wednesday dismissed a media report that said the Army would not reduce troop numbers in Iraq at least through 2006.

Speaking after a House Armed Services Committee meeting, Rumsfeld said it would be "a misunderstanding to characterize" statements made by Army Lt. Gen. James Loveless to mean the service had firm plans to keep the force at present levels.

The Washington Post reported, and Stars and Stripes subsequently printed, a story that said the Army expected to keep its troop strength in Iraq at about 120,000 soldiers for at least two more years.

The Post quoted Loveless as saying, "We're making the assumption that the level of effort is going to continue."

But asked if he agreed with the assessment, Rumsfeld said it was routine planning for multiple scenarios.

"It certainly was not an assessment of any kind, and he said that very explicitly, if I'm not mistaken," Rumsfeld said.

"He said that the Army has to plan, it has to look forward, and it looks forward one, two, three years. And what they do is develop an assumption."

"And so they said for the sake of argument, assume you kept the same level of forces there over that period, how would we meet that?"

"Then they do various sensitivities; they say what if it's more, what if it's less! Then they say, 'How would we deal with that situation?'"

E-mail Pat Dickson at: dickson@stripes.osd.mil

WELCOME TO EUROPE GUIDE

M A G A Z I N E

Brought to you by Stars and Stripes

100 pages on local culture, events, on and off base activities, employment, travel, education and much more.

The Welcome to Europe Guide will be inserted into the Stars & Stripes on the following dates and areas.

January 28	January 29	February 5
Benelux	Darmstadt	Italy
Heidelberg	Wiesbaden	Turkey
Mannheim	Hannau
Stuttgart	Würzburg
Kaiserslautern	Grafenwohr
	Spain
	UK

You may also contact ACS, Family Services, USO or relocation centers throughout Europe

STARS & STRIPES
Your HomeTown Newspaper

U.S. troops ready dozens of polling stations in Iraq

BY JOSEPH GIORDONO

Stars and Stripes

RAMADI, Iraq — American combat engineers and infantrymen occupied dozens of polling stations throughout Iraq early Thursday morning so they could fortify them with concrete barriers, search for bombs and prepare them for possible insurgent attacks in the run up to Sunday's elections.

In Ramadi, where insurgents and American troops have clashed on a near daily basis, members of the 1st Battalion, 503rd Infantry Regiment and the 44th Engineers Battalion — both of which deployed with 2nd Infantry Division units from South Korea to Iraq last fall — took several locations throughout the city.

Working under cover of darkness, huge tracked-recovery vehicles moved concrete barriers into blocking positions, while engineers and soldiers laid out several layers of concertina wire.

"We are going to harden the outer perimeters and provide a secure place for the residents of Ramadi to vote," said 1-503 commander Lt. Col. Justin Gubler, earlier in the day.

At one polling station, a relatively new train station in Ramadi, soldiers arrived around 1 a.m. to begin transforming the largely-abandoned facility into a protected area.

Squads of soldiers swept the buildings for bombs and weapons while other teams set up security measures outside. By around 5 a.m., most of the work was done, and some of the soldiers grabbed a few hours of sleep.

"We got done a little earlier than we thought, so the guys will be able to get a little rest," said Capt. Marco Ferrara of Company D, which will guard the polling station until election day.

By morning, members of an Iraqi Special Police Commando had joined the unit. Under agreements with the Independent Electoral Commission of Iraq, only local forces will be inside the actual polling stations during the election.

All told, more than 100,000 Iraqi soldiers and 150,000 U.S. troops will help provide security throughout the country on election day. In other Iraqi cities, insurgents have attacked or destroyed polling stations.

Ramadi was no exception.

By morning, insurgents had located the troops. U.S. and Iraqi officials did not plan to announce the locations of polling places until around 48 hours before the vote. But as day broke Thursday and the soldiers finished up with the security measures, the crisp snap of a few incoming bullets whizzed overhead. In the distance, gunfire and explosions could briefly be heard coming from other quarters of the city.

By mid-afternoon, the soldiers at the polling station were receiving mortar and rocket-propelled grenade fire. They fired back with machine guns and grenade rounds of their own.

U.S. and Iraqi patrols, using the polling stations as new temporary staging locations, then went into Ramadi to conduct patrols.

E-mail Joseph Giordono at: giordonoj@pstris.osd.mil

Kidnapping plan foiled by U.S. soldiers in Iraq

By JASON CHUDY

Stars and Stripes

BAGHDAD — Soldiers from the 4th Battalion, 31st Infantry Regiment's scout platoon foiled a kidnapping attempt of eight Iraqis in Baghdad's Kadhimiya district Wednesday.

A Ministry of Oil administrator and a few sheiks were among those rescued. Five kidnappers were taken into custody.

The soldiers were patrolling Wednesday night when platoon leader 1st Lt. Jeff O'Dell decided to set up a traffic checkpoint — called a TCP by the soldiers — off a main road.

The 10th Mountain Division soldiers had searched a handful of cars when a van came around the corner into the checkpoint relatively fast, said platoon member Spc. Joshua Edwards.

"He took the corner doing about 30 — that was odd," he said. "He came to a dead stop and started to back up at the same speed."

The soldiers forced the vehicle to stop by aiming their weapons at it, then went up to the vehicle.

Soldiers noticed people bound and blindfolded in the back. The drivers explained by saying they were government security forces and those in back were their prisoners.

When Staff Sgt. Steven Johnson got to the van and started speaking to the driver and passenger, one of the captives spoke up.

"When one of the sheiks heard my voice, he started calling for help," he said.

The soldiers separated the kidnappers from the others, eventually escorting all of them back to their base camp. A search of the five kidnappers and vehicle uncovered four pistols, an AK-47 assault rifle and a sub-machine gun fitted with a silencer, according to a military press release.

Sgt. Carl McCauley said that the soldiers were surprised at the night's events. "At first, I was like 'holy [expletive],' " he said. "I looked around and thought 'What the hell just happened?'"

"We've run hundreds of TCPs," Edwards said. "We've found stuff, but nothing that's a big deal. We got lucky."

E-mail Jason Chudy at: chudyj@mail.strips.osd.mil

Message for our men and women in uniform...

WE ARE PROUD OF YOU!

From coast to coast, thousands of Americans are grateful for what you do and want to show you that they care. To see the actions and messages of support from these groups and individuals from all across America, visit www.strips.com.

This is just a small token of appreciation, a way to say...

Please visit the site at www.strips.com and click on the America Supports You button to view the messages of support and to submit your own thank you notes as well!

STARS & STRIPES
Your Hometown Newspaper

IN THE WORLD

Europe gets slammed by big winter storm

BY WILLIAM J. KOLE

The Associated Press

VIENNA, Austria — Winter's full fury arrived late but with a vengeance across much of Europe on Thursday, dumping snow that played havoc with Switzerland's famously efficient trains and gave Rome and the Mediterranean island of Mallorca a rare white blanket.

Heavy snow stranded Ukraine's new president, Viktor Yushchenko, in Poland and forced him to cancel a much-anticipated trip to Brussels, Belgium, for his first address to the European Parliament.

A plane carrying mail from Romania to Hungary crashed in snowy weather near Iasi in northeastern Romania early Thursday, killing the two Hungarian pilots, authorities said. In the city of Sibiu, meanwhile, a pilot aborted a takeoff to Munich because of a snow-clogged runway.

Whipped by high winds, snow blanketed northern and eastern Romania, closing several highways and cutting power to about 14 villages in the country of Harghita.

More than five feet of snow isolated areas of north and east Albania, and the government said it would send in food and army machinery to open blocked roads.

In Austria, authorities closed key highways to traffic Thursday after more than 200 big rigs became stuck along with hundreds of cars, some still fitted with summer tires.

A man clears the snow from his car windshield Wednesday in Budapest, Hungary, after heavy snow blanketed most of Europe.

In Vienna, about 12 inches of snow fell, the most on Jan. 27 since 1969, the Central Institute for Meteorology and Geodynamics said.

With classes canceled at many schools, students huddled snowboards up into the Vienna Woods, which were blanketed by snow for the first time since early December.

In Germany, heavy snowfalls added a thick layer of fresh snow to the Upper Bavaria region Tuesday night.

In neighboring Slovakia, heavy snowfall continued Thursday, tying up traffic throughout the country, and in the Czech Republic.

Heavy snow storms isolated 13 villages in southwest Hungary and made numerous roads impassable, state-run news agency MTI reported Thursday.

Rome awoke to a light blanket of snow which settled on car roofs and in parks in the higher parts of the city. The rare snowfall in Italy's capital held up commuter trains coming into the city.

In central France, heavy snow shut down numerous schools as well as a stretch of highway. Nationwide, a cold snap broke the previous record for electricity consumption set in January 2003 as chilly homeowners turned up their thermostats. In Paris, shelters scrambled to make more space for the homeless.

In Switzerland, winds of 107 miles per hour were clocked on the peak of La Dole in the Jura mountains north of Geneva, creating blizzard-like conditions.

Heavy snow blocked roads and isolated hundreds of mountain towns in central and northern Spain. More than 1,000 people were trapped overnight on a major highway in the province of Burgos and were temporary housed in sports complexes, police said.

Death toll at 14 in Thailand boat accident

The Associated Press

BANGKOK, Thailand — Rescue workers found the bodies of two Americans and several other people Thursday, bringing the death toll to 14 from the capsizing this week of a tourist boat that overturned on its way back from a beach party in southern Thailand.

Also found were the bodies of an Australian, a Briton, a Swiss citizen and a Thai, officials said.

The search continued for an Australian man who was still missing in the Gulf of Thailand offshore the island of Koh Samui following Tuesday's accident, police said.

The speedboat passengers were returning to their hotels from a full-moon party on Pha-Ngan island when it capsized in the dark at 5:30 a.m. on Tuesday, about 3 miles from Koh Samui's pier.

Authorities still weren't sure how many were aboard the boat when it sank. But the 30-foot boat was thought to be carrying up to 50 people — more than the 30 it was designed to hold.

The skipper, Samran Rungruen, fled the scene and later surrendered to police on Wednesday, blaming a mechanical failure for the accident. But authorities said an investigation would be conducted.

Survivors, world remember Auschwitz

BY VANESSA GERA

The Associated Press

BRZEZINKA, Poland — As candles flickered in the snowy, winter gloom, world leaders and Auschwitz survivors Thursday remembered victims of the Holocaust on the 60th anniversary of the liberation of the Nazi death camp.

The ceremony, which opened with the recorded rumble of an approaching train, was held on the spot where new arrivals were brought in by rail to the vast camp and put through "selection" — meaning those few who were deemed able to work were separated from the rest, who were taken immediately to the gas chambers.

"It seems if you listen hard enough, you can still hear the outcry of horror of the murdered people," Israeli President Moshe Katsav said.

Joining in the commemoration were Vice President Dick Cheney and presidents Aleksander Kwasniewski of Poland, Vladimir Putin of Russia, and Jacques Chirac of France. German President Horst Koehler sat on the platform without speaking in recognition of his country's responsibility for the Holocaust, in which 6 million Jews died during World War II. Barbed wire and brick barracks stretched as far as the eye could see. The ruined crematoriums loomed nearby, all covered with a layer of fresh snow.

Girl Scouts brought blankets to elderly survivors sitting in the freezing cold.

"For a former inmate of Auschwitz, it is an unimaginable and overwhelming emotion to be able to speak in this cemetery without graves, the largest one in the history of Europe," said Wladyslaw Bartoszewski, a survivor who later became Poland's foreign minister.

Soviet troops liberated Auschwitz and the neighboring camp at Birkenau, or Brzezinka in Polish, on Jan. 27, 1945. Some 1.5 million people, most of them Jews, had died at the two camps from gassing, starvation, exhaustion, beatings and disease.

Other victims included Soviet prisoners of war, Poles, Gypsies, homosexuals and political opponents of the Nazis.

"We think of the suffering of our brothers, of the special ties that link us, Poles, with the Jewish nation," Kwasniewski said.

Putin compared the Nazis with the terrorists of today. "Today we shall not only remember the past but also be aware of all the threats of the modern world. Terrorism is among them, and it is no less dangerous and cunning than fascism."

Survivor Franciszek Jozefiak, 80, said efforts to educate new generations about the Holocaust should be strengthened.

The message today is: No more Auschwitz," Jozefiak said.

"But the world has learned nothing so far — you see they are fighting and killing each other everywhere in the world. Today they are saying a lot because of the anniversary, but tomorrow they will forget," he warned.

Mel Mermelstein, a death camp survivor, lights a candle at Auschwitz, where world leaders gathered Thursday to remember victims of the Holocaust on the 60th anniversary of the camp's liberation.

Pentagon Car Sales
salutes the men and women of the US Armed Forces serving in Iraq. Our thoughts and prayers are with you for a speedy and safe return to home and family.
May God bless you and the United States of America

We would like to show our support by sponsoring Free Stars & Stripes newspapers for Operation Iraqi Freedom service members. Available at the Landstuhl Regional Medical Center & the General Von Steuben Hotel, Garmisch-Partenkirchen.

Pentagon Car Sales

www.PentagonCarSales.com

Tsunami may bring political change

BY SLOBODAN LEKIC
The Associated Press

JAKARTA, Indonesia — Wars, economic chaos, and natural disasters have often served as catalysts for fundamental political changes — and last month's tsunami may be another such harbinger of such a shift.

The tragedy that hit Aceh province is pushing forces for change in the separatist-torn region, where tens of thousands have died in decades of fighting between government troops and rebels, analysts say.

"Both the rebels and the government side realize the catastrophe could present a unique opportunity to end the war," said Damien Kingsbury, senior lecturer at Australia's Deakin University. "The military is now the only organization blocking a settlement."

In the first indication that the dynamics of the Aceh conflict may have changed radically, the rebels and the government have agreed to meet behind closed doors in Helsinki, Finland, on Friday to hammer out a cease-fire. A high-level Indonesian delegation will be headed by top security minister Widodo Adi Supito, the government said.

A previous truce between the two sides collapsed in 2003, when hard-line generals opposed to the peace process arrested rebel negotiators, kicked out international observers, and launched a massive offensive that has killed more than 25,000 people.

Following the tsunami, thousands of foreign soldiers, aid workers and journalists poured in after years in which the region was a zone of military operations off limits to foreigners. The Aceh cause is likely to benefit from the scrutiny the disaster has brought to the conflict long known as "Indonesia's forgotten war."

The presence of the international community is also making it possible for Indonesia's allies in the United States and Australia to pres-

Indonesian refugees to be moved from camps

The Associated Press

BANDA ACEH, Indonesia — Indonesia wants to move all 400,000 refugees out of squalid camps in Aceh province by the end of February, the head of the country's relief operations said Thursday, as workers rushed to build temporary homes in an area hardest hit by the tsunami.

The government estimates that 100,000 families in the province — one of the country's poorest regions, on the northern tip of Sumatra island — lost their homes in the Dec. 26 quake and tsunami.

sure the generals to accept a peace process. "Now Jakarta has put the genie back in the bottle, and that's not going to be easy," said Jeffrey Winters, an Indonesia specialist at Chicago's Northwestern University. "This is a major transformation that has happened due to the tsunami."

Yudhoyono

Despite a 10-1 numerical superiority, the 50,000 Indonesian troops and paramilitary police in Aceh have so far proved incapable winning the war, which has become a drain on Jakarta's finances.

Human rights groups have accused the Indonesian army of being responsible for executions, disappearances, torture and collective punishment of civilians. They say most of the victims of the fighting have been villagers caught up in army sweeps.

Mediators involved in the cease-fire talks in Finland said the administration of Indonesia's new president, Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono,

About a third are expected to move into barracks, while the remainder will likely stay with relatives, officials say.

But Budi Atmaji, who is leading the government's relief effort, said he hopes all the refugees will opt for the government-funded housing, at least for the first year, because it would make food distribution and census-taking easier for officials.

"It's critical to put all the internally displaced people in barracks, where we can serve them better rather than them being in tents," Atmaji said.

would like a formal truce. Such a cease-fire would be followed by final-status negotiations in which the separatists would give up their 130-year dream of independence in exchange for wide-ranging autonomy.

"If we agree to terminate the conflict based on the special autonomy statute, I will give some concessions to them," Yudhoyono said, adding that these would include an amnesty for the rebels and measures to reintegrate fighters.

But rebel leaders will be unlikely to accept that, the mediators say, except possibly on condition that free elections are held for a regional government. Indonesian rule is widely detested in the province of 4.1 million people, and any free vote is likely to result in a landslide for the separatists.

Meanwhile, government ministers from tsunami-ravaged Asian nations plan to meet on the badly damaged resort island of Phuket, Thailand, on Friday and Saturday, assessing needs as they plan for a proposed tsunami early warning system in the Indian Ocean.

Also, Japanese troops landed in Banda Aceh on Friday. The troops aim to fill in the gap left when U.S. forces scale back their relief operations.

Heathy urged to help in Africa

The Associated Press

DAVOS, Switzerland — The world's richest man, one of its most visible social activists and the British leader put a sharp focus on the horrors facing Africa's poor on Thursday, saying the planet's indifference to the suffering has been scandalous.

British Prime Minister Tony Blair, who has headed Africa a focus of his leadership of the G-8 this year, said the continent's plight is "a scar on the conscience of the world."

"I almost think if what was happening in Africa today as we speak was happening in any other part of the world, there would be such a scandal and clamor that governments would be falling over themselves to do something about this," Blair said.

Bill Gates, who has amassed an estimated fortune of $48 billion as founder of Microsoft, said most of the disease and despair on the continent would be easily preventable if resources were applied.

"The fact that we don't apply the resources to the known cures or to finding better cures is really the most scandalous issue of our time," he said.

Gates recently pledged $750 million to support immunization programs in developing countries.

Happy New Year!

Now in stock - the all new 2005 Toyota Sienna

Tax Free . U.S. Specs . Low Rates . Trades Welcome . European Delivery . Financing Arranged

Kaiserslautern	0631-351870
Ramstein	06371-598680
Mannheim	0621-72550
Spangdahlem	06565-958610
Heidelberg	06221-169547
	042157
Bamberg	0951-208896
Vilseck	09662-413031
Kitzingen	0921-924612

Located near your community
Wuerzburg	0931-3136814
	07843244
Darmstadt	0173-4067287
Mainz-Kastel	06134-287960
	0287955
Hanau	06181-9060775
	09064742
Milddenhalt (UK)	0044-1638-713222
Lakenheath (UK)	0044-1638-531888
Market Agency in
Aviano (Italy)	0039-0434-678007
Member Agency in
Vicenza (Italy)	0039-0444-304556
Fitzpatrick Agency in
Naples (Italy)	0039-081-5027918
Grammatica Agency in
Signonella (Italy)	0039-095-7130262

EU justice chief looks to quell rise of gang violence

BY CONSTANT BRAND
The Associated Press

BRUSSELS, Belgium — The European Union's top justice official said Thursday that crime gangs and Mafia mobs were spreading throughout the EU at an alarming rate and he proposed cracking down on them with a united effort with the 25 member nations.

EU Justice and Home Affairs Commissioner Franco Frattini wants to set minimum jail terms for leaders and members of crime gangs and streamline definitions of criminal organizations to make prosecution easier and more effective.

Frattini cited statistics from the EU police agency Europol, which said that in 2002 the number of criminal gangs rose to around 4,000, "implicating 40,000 criminals," from around 3,000 in 2001.

Frattini said he expected a "spectacular increase" for 2003 and 2004, although he said he had not yet received final statistics.

"Financial resources of organized crime are terribly increasing," he said, adding that the International Monetary Fund said profits of organized crime syndicates constituted "two to five percent of total gross domestic product in Europe."

The proposals will need to be approved by EU governments before they can take effect.

The rise has been highlighted in recent months by growing public panic in Italy over a gruesome wave of Mafia slayings in Naples.

A mob turf war that has claimed more than 130 lives last year has terrified the city and led to an emergency police clampdown.

Frattini's proposals on organized crime would set minimum prison terms of 10 years for crime-ring leaders and set a four-year minimum sentence for "specialist members" for 2003 and 2004, although he said he had not yet received final statistics.

Plans to set up a criminal records database is sure to face criticism from privacy advocates and EU countries that fear such a database could abuse the rights of citizens.

Germany has in the past objected to such database sharing.

IN THE STATES

Oil co. to cut refinery emissions

Sue settlement also requires ConocoPhillips to pay $4.5M fine

BY MARK SHERMAN

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — ConocoPhillips will install $525 million in pollution controls at nine refineries and pay a $4.5 million fine to settle a federal lawsuit alleging Clean Air Act violations, the Bush administration announced Thursday.

The settlement requires ConocoPhillips, the nation's third-biggest oil company, to reduce yearly emissions of nitrogen oxide by more than 10,000 tons and sulfur dioxide by more than 37,100 tons. Both can cause respiratory ailments and worsen cases of childhood asthma.

The refineries covered in the agreement among the company, the Justice Department, Environmental Protection Agency and five states, represent 10 percent of the nation's refining capacity. The refineries are in California, Illinois, Louisiana, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Texas and Washington. California and Washington are not part of the settlement, Justice Department officials said.

The settlement is the 13th reached under an EPA initiative begun in 2000. EPA officials have said the earlier agreements have cut air pollution by 200,000 tons a year at 48 refineries.

The money for pollution control will be spent over eight years and is just shy of the largest settlement reached over the past four years, a $550 million agreement with Motiva Enterprises.

In addition to the pollution controls and civil penalty, ConocoPhillips will spend another $10 million to further reduce emissions at its refineries in the five states that are part of the settlement. The agreement was filed in U.S. District Court in Texas and still requires the approval of a federal judge.

Calif. man charged in rail deaths

BY PAUL CHAVEZ

The Associated Press

GLENDALE, Calif. — The suicidal man who authorities say caused the chain-reaction train derailment that killed 11 people has been charged with multiple counts of murder and could face the death penalty, the district attorney said Thursday.

Juan Manuel Alvarez, 25, left his sport utility vehicle on a railroad track Wednesday after changing his mind about committing suicide, authorities said. He was held without bail at a hospital's jail ward after apparently slitting his own wrists and stabbing himself in the chest.

In addition to the 11 dead, a woman remained missing and nearly 200 people were injured.

Los Angeles County District Attorney Steve Cooley said prosecutors filed charges late Wednesday for 10 counts of murder with "special circumstances" of committing murder through a train derailment. Under state law, the allegation makes Alvarez eligible for the death penalty. Cooley said the complaint would be amended to add another count to refer to the 11th victim, found in the wreckage late Wednesday night.

Prosecutors were evaluating Alvarez's mental state in regard to the special circumstance allegations, but Cooley said it was no defense to the charges.

"His despondency doesn't move me," the district attorney said. "The mere fact that he was a little upset or despondent doesn't mean he has a defense for anything."

Alvarez's state of mind, while not providing a motive, could show his intent to commit a crime, Cooley said.

Arraignment was planned for Thursday afternoon but could be delayed depending on Alvarez's medical condition.

Alvarez got out of his green Jeep Cherokee before two commuter trains crashed in this Los Angeles suburb. He stood by as the gruesome chain-reaction wreck scattered wreckage and bodies over a quarter-mile of track. The crash was the worst U.S. rail tragedy since 1999.

Alvarez's estranged wife, Carmelita Alvarez, had ordered him out of her Compton home months ago, her family said. In December, she obtained a temporary restraining order keeping him away from her, their 3-year-old son and other family members.

The wounded Alvarez was under suicide watch but was listed in stable condition, and Sheriff Lee Baca said Thursday on CBS' "The Early Show" that Alvarez "was rather astounded himself as to what the outcome was."

Associated Press writers Robert Jablon and Laura Wides contributed to this report.

Massachusetts snow in the record books

When the Boston area saw 5 more inches of snow Thursday morning — two days after John McDonald's attempts to clear ice from a friend's car, in Hull, Mass., with a rubber hammer, above — this month became Boston's snowiest on record. Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney asked President Bush to declare a federal emergency in the eastern half of the state Thursday, only days after Bostonians saw a blizzard dump more than 3 feet of snow. Lognor's January total is 43.1 inches of snow, more than in any month since the National Weather Service began keeping records for the city in 1892.

Medical-records upgrades sought

The Associated Press

CLEVELAND — President Bush said Thursday that the medical industry is behind the times, using paper and pen for many records and prescriptions when computerized records could reduce cost and errors.

"Most industries in America have used information technology to make their businesses more cost effective, more efficient and more productive. And the truth of the matter is, health care hasn't," Bush said during a forum at the Cleveland Clinic.

The White House announced that it will propose that the federal government spend $125 million in next year's budget to test computerization of health records. The government is spending $50 million on this in the current budget year, and Bush is also asking Congress to double that amount for 2005.

The Cleveland Clinic has been helping the government develop standards for computerization and Bush heard from doctors who joined him on stage to praise the technology. The hospital uses the Internet to give patients second opinions online for cancer, heart disease and other conditions and also provides health information aimed at eliminating the time and expense of hospital visits.

But for every hospital making advancements like the Cleveland Clinic, there are many that still use the old-fashioned paper methods.

Bush campaigned on the issue last year. He said his goal is for a majority of Americans to have computerized records in 10 years.

Bush said he is sensitive to privacy concerns. "I presume I'm like most Americans. I think my medical records to be private. I don't want people looking at them. I don't want people, you know, opening them up unless I say it's fine for you to do so," he said.

Calif. gay pair's case key

SANTA ANA, Calif. — A legal challenge by a gay couple from suburban Orange County against laws banning same-sex marriage has suddenly become key in the thin field of litigation on the issue.

Christopher Hammer and Arthur Smelt plan to be in U.S. District Court on Thursday as their attorney argues that the federal law, as well as California's Proposition 22, are violations of civil rights.

California recognizes only marriages between a man and a woman, the Defense of Marriage Act allows states to disregard gay marriages performed in other states and foreign countries.

Ohio worker kills boss

TOLEDO, Ohio — An auto worker wired a shotgun to his body and burst into a Jeep assembly plant, killing a supervisor and wounding two other employees before killing himself.

The alleged gunman, Myles Meyers, had met with plant officials to talk about a problem with his work the day before his fatal spree Wednesday at a Jeep Liberty Plant, authorities said.

After entering the plant Wednesday, Meyers pointed the gun at a woman in the plant's body shop office and ordered her to summon three others, police Chief Mike Navarre said.

One of the three men, Michael Toney, was shot and wounded. Supervisor Roy Thacker, who was on the list of three, was killed after he went to the office on his own, while a third man who was not on the list, Paul Medlen, was wounded later, authorities said.

Stored chemicals ablaze

GRANDVIEW, Wash. — Officials evacuated 100 homes and closed a 13-mile stretch of highway after a building used to store farm chemicals caught fire, filling the air with contaminated smoke.

A half dozen people complained of skin irritation or respiratory distress and sought treatment at a nearby hospital, said Lt. Jim Keightley, State Patrol spokesman.

From The Associated Press

Look For Education
Focus on the new standards for mathematics and science in the new curriculum

In Sunday Scene
this Sunday

OPINION

How far are we willing to push prisoners?

The Dallas Morning News

"I have neither the time nor the inclination to explain myself to a man who rises and sleeps under the blanket of the very freedom I provide, then questions the manner in which I provide it!"

—Col. Nathan Jessep, "A Few Good Men"

The famous courtroom outburst from Jack Nicholson in the film "A Few Good Men" is a classic defense of "ends-justify-the-means" morality. The fictional Jessep, on military trial for complicity in a soldier's beating death, argues that the society that counts on the security he provides had better take care in judging him.

We were thinking about Col. Jessep in the wake of the conviction of Spc. Charles Graner, recently found guilty of abusing prisoners at Abu Ghraib prison and sentenced to 10 years behind bars. The verdict was just, the punishment condign, and, thus, many of us may think this puts the question of U.S. abuse and torture of detainees to rest.

Wrong. We have no right to scapegoat Spc. Graner. There are far too many questions left unanswered about U.S. policy on physical abuse of these prisoners. There are reams of documents—official investigations, a Red Cross report, internal government papers made public thanks to an American Civil Liberties Union lawsuit—showing that cruel and inhumane treatment of prisoners was more widespread than initially believed.

We know now that some detainees were beaten, some were raped, some burned, choked, urinated on, forced to face mock execution, shocked with electricity, sexually humiliated... the list goes on.

We know, too, that the White House adopted what might charitably be called an expansive view of the limits of physical coercion. President Bush has said that he does not condone torture, but much depends on the definition of the word. When does necessary roughness become torture—and do our interrogators know and respect the distinction? More important: Does it matter to the American people that they do?

If not, then Col. Jessep is right, and there is no moral limit to what might be done to human beings in the name of security. So much for the sanctity of moral values.

In the film, Nathan Jessep goes down, because our sense of justice does not grant the right to do lawless evil so that good might come of it. If that's what Americans really believe, and not just Hollywood make-believe, we are shamefully reticent to show our troubled consciences.

Comment compromised if conflicts not of interest

BY EDWARD WASSERMAN

The affair of Armstrong Williams, the columnist and TV commentator who secretly took $240,000 to shield for Bush administration education policy, came and went with blinding speed.

Not only was the furor brief and short, but it focused on the case's most unusual elements—that it involved a black conservative, an explicit payout, public money and straight-up propaganda. As The New York Times framed the issue:

"The disclosure of the payments intensified a debate over the prevalence of political opinion masked as editorial content in the paid public communications of the Bush administration."

That's one way of looking at it. The far bigger issue, and one reason why the matter got so little attention, is that Williams' sin exemplifies a corruption that is all but routine in the arena of opinion and commentary: Somebody's bankrolling all these supposedly independent voices, and we rarely know who. Of the numerous articles I read on the case only a column by Chris Baker, in The Washington Times, hinted at the problem: "One of the dirty secrets of television news is that the producers who book pundits such as Armstrong Williams on their programs rarely ask the commentators about potential conflicts of interest."

I suspect it's a lot worse than that, and it isn't just TV.

At times, the commentary arena is little better than an ethical brothel.

Reporters face mounting demands to come clean on entanglements, but TV's shouting heads and the outside columnists who fill newspaper op-ed pages face no such clamor.

Freelance a travel article to a reputable newspaper, as a veteran political consultant told me, and you must swear a Coke from the hotels you mention. But write a fierce opinion piece about some public policy—with vast consequences at stake—and no body asks whether you have a client involved.

As readers, we don't notice. We read the op-ed column or watch the guest commentator, and we're reassured to learn the pundit is an expert in arms control or health-care policy, or is an ex-deputy assistant undersecretary, or a scholar-in-residence at some institute, or co-author of some largely unsold book. And it's true, but it tells us nothing. We still have not a clue as to whom this person works for—and whether those learned observations were delivered pursuant to an arrangement with an undisclosed paymaster.

Even formal affiliations may be just protective cover. The writer who's a "fellow" of that high-sounding think tank may be financially beholden to a benefactor hidden behind the institutional curtain.

After the Williams affair broke, Judith Phair, head of the Public Relations Society of America, wrote on the organization's Web site that its Code of Ethics requires professionals to "fully disclose sponsors or financial interests involved in any paid communications activities."

It's a commendable standard—whether labeled corporate PR, lobbying or grass-roots—but routinely obligate consultants to make sure that sympathetic commentaries are placed on respectable media outlets. (It's not unheard-of for the writing to be arranged anonymously well before the prestigious author's byline is rented.) This is never disclosed.

Some say that the rules are different for pundits. Williams—who has insisted he said nothing he didn't believe—claimed initially that because he was a commentator, not a journalist, he could keep the payments secret. In an interview, President Bush, whose appointees were Williams' bagmen, observed, "There needs to be a clear distinction between journalism and advocacy"—a puzzling remark. Did he mean money paid under-the-table to commentators precisely because the public thinks they're independent isn't deceitful? Or course it is.

There is such a thing as principled advocacy. And there is honest commentary based on disinterested judgments and driven by conviction, not cash. What the Williams affair dramatizes is a regrettable institutional laxness from which the marketplace of opinion now suffers.

It's not hard to insist that pundits disclose conflicts and commitments, to insist that bylined authors actually do their own writing and that basic standards of honest discourse apply.

And the beleaguered mainstream media would do well to set such standards now. Because with the jubilant proliferation of punditry on the Internet, it's hard to see where else such standards would be set.

Edward Wasserman is Knight professor of journalism ethics at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Va. He wrote this column for The Miami Herald.

What the Williams affair dramatizes is a regrettable institutional laxness from which the marketplace of opinion now suffers.

Mallard Fillmore

BY BRUCE TINSLEY

Cop faces discipline

CO DENVER — Police Sgt. Michael Karasek will be disciplined for threatening to arrest a woman for displaying on her truck a profane bumper sticker about President Bush, Police Chief Gerry Whitman said.

Shasta Bates, 26, was confronted by a man while standing in a UPS store. The man told her he was upset by her bumper sticker.

The man then went outside and flagged down Karasek, who was working off-duty in uniform at the shopping center.

Bates, three UPS employees and a Rocky Mountain News reporter who happened to be there all say that the officer threatened to arrest the woman if she didn't remove the bumper sticker from her truck.

Karasek told investigators that he did threaten the woman with arrest, but at the time he thought he was following the law, a police source said. He realized shortly after the confrontation that he was wrong, the source said.

Rethinking Washington

MD BALTIMORE — Researchers hoping to dispel George Washington's image as a stiff-jawed, boring old man are taking a bite out of history through a high-tech study of his famous false teeth.

The researchers were in Baltimore to perform laser scans on a set of Washington's dentures at the National Museum of Dentistry — dentures, they say, that were not made of wood as commonly believed.

Scientists and historians plan to use the information to help create new, expressive, life-sized figures of plaster and wax to show aspects of the 6-foot-3 Washington's personality they consider underappreciated.

"People know that Washington was great, but many people think he was boring and nothing could be further from the truth," said James C. Rees, executive director of the Mount Vernon Estate and Gardens, Washington's home in Northern Virginia.

Great water levels

MI TRAVERSE CITY — The water levels in the Great Lakes system have risen as much as 16 inches this winter from one year ago, bringing hope for next summer to the region's boaters and beach visitors.

According to the latest U.S. Army Corps of Engineers figures, Lake St. Clair's water level was 16 inches above the winter 2004 level and 4 inches above its long-term average. The other lakes reported 7- to 15-inch increases.

High water translates to cash for the shipping industry, where higher water means more cargo and bigger profits. A single inch of water allows a 1,000-foot freighter to carry 270 additional tons of goods, according to the Cleveland-based Lake Carriers' Association.

Light rail funded

AZ PHOENIX — Saying the nation's sixth-largest city is "strangling on its congestion," the country's top transit official signed an agreement to free $587 million in federal money to help sprawling Phoenix build a light rail system.

AMERICAN ROUNDUP

For Phoenix to "not plan ahead on something that is not focused on the automobile would be foolhardy," Federal Transit Administrator Jennifer Dorn said after signing the agreement with the mayors of Phoenix, Tempe, Mesa and Glendale.

Cars line up for blocks at some freeway onramps during peak hours, and it can easily take more than an hour for motorists to get to the outskirts from downtown during rush hour. With light rail, it will take about 20 minutes to get from downtown to Tempe and about the same time to get to north Phoenix.

Besides easing traffic problems, Phoenix Mayor Phil Gordon said light rail will create 1,600 full-time jobs.

Hearings on shrimping

LA ABEVILLE — Public hearings are set for February to discuss capping the number of shrimp boats operating in federal waters in the Gulf of Mexico.

New rules tentatively adopted by the Gulf of Mexico Fisheries Management Council would limit the shrimp fleet for the next decade at about 2,800 boats — those operating with federal permits at the end of 2003.

After the council makes its final decision following the public hearings, the proposal would be passed on to the National Marine Fisheries Service for one last round of consideration.

Doesn't look like fun

Brougham Elementary third-grader Nick Jones takes a beanbag to the forehead after he stuck his head in a bull's eye during a family fun night in Olathe, Kan.

Fatal accident

VT BARTON — A Lowell teenager was killed over the weekend after a snowmobile accident on Crystal Lake.

Vermont State Police later cited the boy's father and uncle on suspicion of snowmobiling while intoxicated.

The crash happened as Randy Langmaid, 37, and his 16-year-old son, Shane, were snowmobiling with Randy Langmaid's 27-year-old brother, Jonathan, according to a news release from Vermont State Police in Derby.

Randy Langmaid broke his right arm in the crash.

Magnet message

OR EUGENE — The University of Oregon is defending its decision to tell one of its delivery drivers to remove a "Support Our Troops" magnet from the state-owned truck he uses at work.

Oregon law prohibits personal messages on state-owned vehicles, regardless of the context. University President Dave Frohnmayer said that driver Pete Baker will face no disciplinary action, and added that he was upset that the incident has led people to question the patriotism of the university.

New attention on grapes

CA BERKELEY — California grape growers and winemakers are hung up on "hang time" — how long grapes should be left on the vine.

Some winemakers want the grapes picked late to maximize flavor.

But growers say that cuts into their per-ton profits because grapes lose weight as they ripen.

"There's a lot of controversy about this," said Andy Beckstoffer, a major Napa Valley grower who recently organized a seminar on hang time that drew more than 500 people.

The issue of hang time, also known as extended ripening, has been around for at least five years, but the past year has brought increased attention, said Karen Ross, president of the California Association of Winegrape Growers in Sacramento.

Airport not proving itself

MO ST. LOUIS — At MidAmerica airport, the parking is free, the waits are short and the terminal is gleaming.

But it needs some flights and passengers.

Before the airport opened in 1997 in Mascoutah, Ill., about 20 miles east of St. Louis, studies predicted well over a million passengers by 2005. The 2004 figure: 7,800 passengers.

However, Illinois officials remain committed to the airport.

One new development has raised some optimism.

In November, TransMeridian Airlines, a charter airline out of Little Springs, Ga., began offering a few flights a week out of the airport, flying passengers to and from Orlando, Fla. TransMeridian recently opted to extend its term at MidAmerica through Sept. 6.

Honoring veterans

Pat Murphy, former soldier with the 78th Infantry Division, second from bottom, flashes a peace sign on the floor of the Arkansas state Senate in Little Rock, as survivors of the Battle of the Bulge are honored.

For the birds

Grackles perch on top of a tree in Abilene, Texas.

A Penny for your walk

Ethel Scobe takes her dog, Penny, for a walk in Wichita, Kan. The Boston terrier stays warm by wearing a fleece sweater.

Getting toasty

California sea lions sunbathe on a San Francisco boat dock.

Blue skies

A thick mist blankets the Willamette Valley floor at sunset near Springfield, Ore.

Early morning loner

Separated from the rest of the herd, a lone Hereford cow is silhouetted against the sunrise near Mount Carroll, Ill.

Truck falls off bridge

A truck is seen on its roof in the Middle Patuxent River along Interstate 95 in Savage, Md., following a multi-vehicle accident. The tractor-trailer flipped off a bridge, landing upside down in a ravine below. The driver survived.

Arrested for drawings

FL OCALA — Two boys were arrested for making pencil-and-crayon stick figures drawings depicting a 10-year-old classmate being stabbed and hung, police said. The children, charged with a felony, were taken from school in handcuffs.

The 9- and 10-year-old boys were charged with making a written threat to kill or harm another person. They also were suspended from school.

Wife gets life sentence

MI PONTIAC — An elementary school teacher who hacked her husband to death with a hatchet was sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole.

Before she was sentenced, Nancy Seaman read a statement in which she called the jury's guilty verdict "a miscarriage of justice" and a "tragic mistake." She said she would appeal.

Prosecutors said Seaman argued with her husband, Robert, last Mother's Day, went to Home Depot to buy a hatchet, returned to their home and killed him with it. Police found Robert Seaman's body in his wife's sport utility vehicle a few days later.

Nancy Seaman claimed that she bought the hatchet for yard work and that the couple got into an argument the next morning in which her husband of 31 years menaced her with a steak knife. She said she grabbed the nearest thing to defend herself.

Oakland County Circuit Judge John McDonald said he didn't "doubt for a minute" that Seaman was physically and emotionally abused. But he said jurors did not believe the abuse was so severe that it excused the slaying.

Heifer sells and resells

MT MISSOULA — A 520-pound heifer took center stage at the Missoula Livestock Exchange, where the animal was sold and resold about a dozen times to raise money for two groups opposed to relaxing restrictions on Canadian beef imports.

Auctioning the black Angus calf, along with a Western bronze statue and some other items, raised $5,500 to $6,000 for the Montana Cattlemen's Association and the Ranchers-Cattlemen Action Legal Fund, or R-CALF USA. R-CALF is the legal-action arm of the U.S. Stockgrowers Association.

The sale came nine days after authorities confirmed another case of mad cow disease in Alberta, Canada. It was the second Canadian animal found to have the deadly brain-wasting disease since December when the United States announced that cross-border cattle trade would resume in March.

Abuse allegations bills

NH CONCORD — A bill being debated by the House would prevent people from reporting child abuse anonymously, a measure that has elicited concern from children's advocates.

Rep. Lars Christiansen, R-Hudson, said too many people are falsely accused of child abuse and never know who pointed the finger of blame. He said it all adds up to a violation of civil rights.

According to the state, only 6 percent of child abuse calls are anonymous. Department of Children, Youth and Families investigators oppose the idea of forcing callers to identify themselves, and they insist that their work is not heavy-handed.

School honor protested

GA CANTON — Parents and students are speaking out against plans to name a new school for a Confederate-era governor.

The Cherokee County Board of Education voted 4-3 to name the county's newest high school after former Gov. Joseph E. Brown.

However, some parents and students who will attend the school say the name invites controversy.

Scott Rowland, who has three children, said naming the school after a Confederate governor brings connotations of racism, "whether justified or not."

Brown is referred to in the history books as a "rabid secessionist." Ending slavery, he said, would lead to the South's ruin.

Besides teaching in Cherokee, Brown had a long-term interest in education. He was the first president of the Atlanta Public Schools, and he was a founding board member at historically black Atlanta University, according to Cathy Loving-Pye, historian/archivist for Atlanta schools.

Park fees now law

AZ TUCSON — Visitors to national forests and other federal lands who had hoped temporary recreation fees would soon vanish will have no such luck.

The fees were first imposed in 1996 on temporary permits and have been renewed by Congress every two years since. But last fall, Congress wrote the fees into law for at least a decade.

Congress approved the law as part of a larger appropriations bill in November, and President Bush signed it Dec. 8.

Town's population back

NC RALEIGH — At the time of the 2000 census, Princetonville was still mostly a disaster zone after being devastated by flooding from Hurricane Floyd. Many of its residents abandoned their homes for drier ground.

Town officials suspected then that the population would be uncounted because of the storm, and requested a special recount.

Revised figures now show Princetonville, about 60 miles northeast of Raleigh, has 2,029 residents — more than twice as many as the 974 listed in the official 2000 count.

Foster parents punished

RI PROVIDENCE — A Cranston couple's foster license is on hold after a young man in their care shot himself in the leg with a gun found in the father's sock drawer.

The police said the bullet pierced 20-year-old Daniel Lillie's lower right thigh and exited just above the back of his knee.

Veronica Manders, 38, told The Providence Journal she plans to lobby DCYF to keep her foster-care license. She said the incident has caused she and her husband to separate. The couple have taken care of 20 foster children over the past eight years.

Stories and photos from wire services

AFRTS Television Schedule

Updated sports listings are available on the first scoreboard page in the sports section or AFRTS Web site at <http://myinfo.dodmedia.osd.mil>

FRIDAY, JANUARY 26, 2005

AFIN-FAMILY		AFIN-MOVIE	AFIN-EUROPE	AFIN-KOREA	AFIN-NEWS	AFIN-SPORTS	SPECTRUM	AFIN-PACIFIC
9:00	Stanley Wieldy Pilot	Movie • "Changes" (1991)	Dr. Phil	Jocergy	Nightline	PGA Golf 2nd Hole Chrysler Classic - First Round, From La Quinta, Calif. (Taped)	80-Minute Meals	Jocergy
9:30	Sagwa-Sameer Cat	Cheryl Ladd, Michael Nouri	Headline News	Headline News	Headline News	Classic - First Round, From La Quinta, Calif. (Taped)	Easy Entertainment-Chanelo	Headline News
10:00	Arthur Buster moves away.	top TV correspondent talks in	(8:46) Oprah Winfrey	ESPNs	Headball With Chris Matthews		Decorating Cents	ESPNs
10:30	Isy	(3:35) Guiding Light	(10:35) Movie • "You're Got Mail" (1998) Tom Hanks	Advisory Block	The O'Reilly Factor	Tennis Australian Open - Highlights.	The Look for Less	Special Report
11:00	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Two letter business mails conduct an on-line love affair.	(17) General Hospital	King of the Hill	King of the Hill		King of the Hill	King of the Hill
11:30	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"		Headline News	Meet My Fols (The Scartins)	PrimeTime Thursday	SportsCenter	The King of Queens	Wipe Saw "Donahoe/Baker"
12:00	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"		Headline News	Today John Lingo, Norbert Alton	Fox and Friends	College Basketball Washington at Arizona. (Taped)	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
13:00	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"		Headline News	The Apprentice "Sex, Lies and Alimony"	Fox and Friends	College Basketball Oregon at California. (Taped)	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
14:00	Disnoor Planet "Little Day Hunt" Das runs several huns.	Movie • "A Touch of Heaven" (1999) Dennis Quaid, Anthony Michael Hall, Ann Rosenberg	Pacific Report	The Tonight Show With Jay Leno	American Morning	College Basketball Oregon at California. (Taped)	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
15:00	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Movie • "Enemy of the State" (1996) Kiefer Sutherland, Gene Hackman	Headline News	What's New Scooby-Doo?	Chin Live Today	SportsCenter	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
15:30	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Movie agents hunt a lawyer who has an incriminating tape.	Headline News	CodeName: Kids Next Door	Access Hollywood	SportsCenter	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
16:00	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Movie • "The 400 Blows" (1959) Jean-Pierre L��aud, Jean-Pierre L��aud	Headline News	Ozzy & Drix	Headline News	SportsCenter	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
17:00	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Movie • "The 400 Blows" (1959) Jean-Pierre L��aud, Jean-Pierre L��aud	Headline News	CodeName: Kids Next Door	Headline News	SportsCenter	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
17:30	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Movie • "The 400 Blows" (1959) Jean-Pierre L��aud, Jean-Pierre L��aud	Headline News	CodeName: Kids Next Door	Headline News	SportsCenter	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
18:00	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Movie • "The 400 Blows" (1959) Jean-Pierre L��aud, Jean-Pierre L��aud	Headline News	CodeName: Kids Next Door	Headline News	SportsCenter	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
19:00	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Movie • "The 400 Blows" (1959) Jean-Pierre L��aud, Jean-Pierre L��aud	Headline News	CodeName: Kids Next Door	Headline News	SportsCenter	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
20:00	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Movie • "The 400 Blows" (1959) Jean-Pierre L��aud, Jean-Pierre L��aud	Headline News	CodeName: Kids Next Door	Headline News	SportsCenter	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
21:00	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Movie • "The 400 Blows" (1959) Jean-Pierre L��aud, Jean-Pierre L��aud	Headline News	CodeName: Kids Next Door	Headline News	SportsCenter	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
22:00	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Movie • "The 400 Blows" (1959) Jean-Pierre L��aud, Jean-Pierre L��aud	Headline News	CodeName: Kids Next Door	Headline News	SportsCenter	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
23:00	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Movie • "The 400 Blows" (1959) Jean-Pierre L��aud, Jean-Pierre L��aud	Headline News	CodeName: Kids Next Door	Headline News	SportsCenter	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice
23:30	Disnoor Planet "White Yip's Journey"	Movie • "The 400 Blows" (1959) Jean-Pierre L��aud, Jean-Pierre L��aud	Headline News	CodeName: Kids Next Door	Headline News	SportsCenter	Charm'd "How to Make a Out of a Room"	The Apprentice

SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 2005

00:00	Asahi! Real Monsters	"Nifty Prot. 2"	Late Show-Letterman	All Grown Up	Headline News	SportsCenter	Late Night With Conan O'Brien	All Grown Up
00:30	Rockwell Power	(14) Movie • "Hard Target" (1993) Jean-Claude Van Damme, Lance Henriksen, Arnold Voslo	Access Hollywood	Powerpuff Girls	NBC Nightly News	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
1:00	The Family OddParents	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	ABC World News Tonight	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
1:30	Rugrats	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	CBS Evening News	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
2:00	All Grown Up	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	The NewsHour With Jim Lehrer	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
2:30	Dave the Barbarian	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	Harmony & Colmes	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
3:00	Danny Phantom	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	Headline News	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
4:00	That's So Raven	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	Nightly Business Report	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
4:30	Sabrina, the Teenage Witch	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	Low Dobbs Tonight	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
5:00	Seanne Street (E)	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	Larry King Live	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
5:30	Barney & Friends (E)	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	(E)11 ESPNs	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
6:00	Blue's Clues/Pajamas party.	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Films Presents	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
7:00	Planet's Funniest Animals	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
7:30	Amazing Animal Videos	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	SportsCenter	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
8:00	Like & Stitch "Wipe Out"	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
8:30	Yeams Supreme (E)	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
9:00	Static Shock	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
9:30	Kim Possible (E)	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
10:00	Ten Titans	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
10:30	Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
11:00	Dragonball GT	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
11:30	Justice League	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
12:00	Ten Kids News (E)	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
12:30	Teen Titans	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
13:00	Trading Space: Boy-Girl	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
13:30	Scout's Safari "Runners" (E)	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
14:00	Skunked TV "Swine Song" (E)	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
14:30	Wild America	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
15:00	The Most Extreme Animal	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
15:30	Hercules: The Legendary Journeys	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
16:00	The View "Don't Get Me Started"	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
16:30	Dr. Oog "Oog on the Loose"	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
17:00	The Wild Thornberrys	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
18:00	The Family OddParents	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
18:30	Rugrats	Movie • "The Family OddParents" (1999) Adam Sandler, Jim Carrey, Jeff Foxworthy	Boxing Friday Night Fights - Rodney Jones vs. Teddy Reid. (Live)	Drake & Josh "Pool Shark"	NFL Total Access	NBA Basketball Cleveland Cavaliers at New York Knicks. From Madison Square Garden in New York. (Live)	The Amazing Race 6	Dave the Barbarian
19:00	Movie • "The Country Bears" (2002) Christopher Walken, Stephen Tobolowsky	Movie • "The Country Bears" (2002) Christopher Walken, Stephen Tobolowsky	Movie • "The Country Bears" (2002) Christopher Walken, Stephen Tobolowsky	Movie • "The Country Bears" (2002) Christopher Walken, Stephen Tobolowsky	Movie • "The Country Bears" (2002) Christopher Walken, Stephen Tobolowsky	Movie • "The Country Bears" (2002) Christopher Walken, Stephen Tobolowsky	Movie • "The Country Bears" (2002) Christopher Walken, Stephen Tobolowsky	Movie • "The Country Bears" (2002) Christopher Walken, Stephen Tobolowsky
20:00	Movie • "Leave It to Beaver"	Movie • "Leave It to Beaver" (1959) Comedies	Movie • "Leave It to Beaver" (1959) Comedies	Movie • "Leave It to Beaver" (1959) Comedies	Movie • "Leave It to Beaver" (1959) Comedies	Movie • "Leave It to Beaver" (1959) Comedies	Movie • "Leave It to Beaver" (1959) Comedies	Movie • "Leave It to Beaver" (1959) Comedies
21:00	Movie • "Picture Perfect" (1987) Comedies	Movie • "Picture Perfect" (1987) Comedies	Movie • "Picture Perfect" (1987) Comedies	Movie • "Picture Perfect" (1987) Comedies	Movie • "Picture Perfect" (1987) Comedies	Movie • "Picture Perfect" (1987) Comedies	Movie • "Picture Perfect" (1987) Comedies	Movie • "Picture Perfect" (1987) Comedies
22:00	Movie • "So Called Life: The Z"	Movie • "So Called Life: The Z" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "So Called Life: The Z" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "So Called Life: The Z" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "So Called Life: The Z" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "So Called Life: The Z" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "So Called Life: The Z" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "So Called Life: The Z" (1999) Comedies
23:00	The Simpsons	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies
23:30	The Simpsons	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies	Movie • "Big Daddy" (1999) Comedies

Read Stripes online at www.stripes.com

STARS & STRIPES
Your Hometown Newspaper

FACES

Snoops get celebrity restraining order

Oscar-winning actress Nicole Kidman has asked a court to issue a restraining order against two Sydney photographers, their lawyer said.

Roland Day said his client, Jamie Fawcett, and another photographer he represents had been served papers saying Kidman's application would be heard in Waverley Local Court. Day wouldn't name the other photographer.

Police officers were called to Kidman's home after an electronic listening device was found near a security vehicle that was monitoring her mansion from the street.

The bug was apparently discovered when security officers searched the grounds in preparation for Kidman's return to film her new movie, "Eucalyptus."

It wasn't immediately clear whether Kidman's application for a restraining order was related to that incident. "Ms. Kidman appears to be trying to control how the media covers her personal and public life," Day said.

He said his clients were merely doing their jobs and that granting Kidman's request would "have the dangerous consequence of encouraging anyone under the scrutiny of the media to do the same thing."

Rowling announces name of baby

J.K. Rowling, creator of the "Harry Potter" boy-wizard fantasy book series, has named her new baby daughter Mackenzie.

The 39-year-old British author gave birth to her third child at Edinburgh Royal Infirmary. In a note posted on her Web site, Rowling wrote: "Her name is Mackenzie Murray (middle names Jean Rowling) and she is ridiculously beautiful, though I suppose I might be biased."

Rowling and her husband, Dr. Neil Murray, said they are "absolutely delighted" with their new arrival. The couple have a 22-month-old son, David, and Rowling has an 11-year-old daughter, Jessica, from a previous marriage.

"Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince," the much-anticipated sixth book in the series, will be published on July 16.

Actor not present for knife attack

A security guard at the London theater where Christian Slater had been performing was involved in a knife attack, a spokesman for Slater's play said.

Slater had already left the West End theater when the attack occurred, said Tom Coupe, a spokesman for "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," which ended its successful five-month run. The theater security guard wasn't injured, Coupe said.

The 35-year-old actor "wasn't nearby, he didn't see this person [the attacker]. He had already left the theater," Coupe said.

"Christian wasn't directly involved," Anna Arthur, Slater's publicist, said. "It's something that happened in the streets outside, there in the West End. It involved the security guards but not Christian."

First 'Survivor' winner arraigned

Richard Hatch, the first winner of the hit CBS reality show "Survivor," was arraigned in federal court on charges he didn't pay taxes on his $1 million prize.

Hatch, a resident of Newport, didn't enter a plea, but told U.S. Magistrate Judge Lincoln Almond that he understood the charges, and waived his right to a grand jury.

Almond released Hatch on $50,000 bond, which he posted following the hearing.

Federal prosecutors charge that Hatch, 43, filed false 2000 and 2001 tax returns, omitting his income from the show, as well as another $321,000 he was paid by a Boston radio station.

The charges carry a maximum five years in federal prison and a $250,000 fine for each charge.

Stories and photos from The Associated Press

Bobby McFerrin, second from left, his wife Debbie McFerrin, left, and their children attend a show in New York City on Nov. 15. McFerrin doesn't hate his most popular song — you know the one — but he won't perform it.

The disappearance of 'Don't worry, be happy'

He's pretty happy, but you aren't going to hear Bobby McFerrin's most famous song anytime soon — at least not from him

BY BRAD BARNES
Knight Ridder Newspapers

Bobby McFerrin does not perform his most famous song in concert.

But to quote that song: Don't worry, be happy. His shows are a free-form amalgam of jazz singing, improvised voice work and audience participation. And, McFerrin hopes, they're lots of fun.

"I'd say 90 percent of the audiences might be a little disappointed [I didn't play the song]," he says, "but hopefully they've had so much fun between you know, the first number and the last that they're OK."

"Every once in a while someone will say, 'How come you didn't do 'Don't Worry, Be Happy'?' But they're still asking for my autograph," he says.

"They're still taking pictures and we're all having a good time."

The infectious melody of "Don't Worry, Be Happy" made it a No. 1 smash in 1988, with part of the charm coming from its novelty. McFerrin's voice provided 12 tracks of hums, bop-bops and doo-doots in lieu of any instrumental support.

But he has a love-hate relationship with the piece. Its success made McFerrin a household name. But it also defined the man — a jazz artist and the son of two classical vocalists — as a pop singer in the public's mind.

"I don't regret its success at all," McFerrin says. "It's still working for me, my goodness, after all these years. It's still out there; people still talk about it. Companies use it for commercials or whatever. It's still working."

Still, he hasn't performed the song in 17 years. Yet his Web site embraces it, with playful links like "Don't Worry,

Be Bobby," and a collection of press quotes calling the man a one-hit wonder.

For the most part, critics have embraced McFerrin as a true innovator, unlike any vocalist before. That distinction might have come partly from his self-imposed exile from other jazz singers.

"In the beginning, I purposely stayed away from listening to singers for two years," he says. "I didn't want to, like, copy someone's licks, knowing how impressionable I am. I was afraid of doing such a diligent search in trying to find the voice that I would end up copying that voice, whoever it was. So I actually made myself take a two-year fast from jazz singers."

"Once I got really comfortable with my technique, and I was beginning to understand who I was, I started listening to others," says McFerrin, now 54.

(He doesn't remember who he broke his fast with. "That was a long, long time ago," he says. "It could've been Al Jarreau, could've been Jon Hendricks.")

In keeping with that spirit of innovation, he starts every solo show by performing a song even he doesn't know.

He improvises. "I do the hardest thing first, the scariest thing first, which is to go out there without any ideas and just open my mouth and start singing. And whatever it is, is what it is. It's never a tune that anyone knows. It's always something that's made up on the spot."

That may be 5 minutes of the show, or it might be 25 minutes. And after that, he draws in the spectators to help with the performance.

"Some audiences are very conservative. They're not used to being told to sing with me," he says. "But I've never, never, never, ever failed to get an audience to sing."

"I don't regret its success at all. It's still working for me, my goodness, after all these years. It's still out there; people still talk about it."

Bobby McFerrin
Musician

Hatch

Horoscope

Mars and Pluto buddy up for some cosmic rock 'n' roll. Areas of life that have suffered from a lack of confrontation now receive due attention—not to mention a fierce attitude. It doesn't always take a revolution to change someone's mind or to handle a squinty situation, but if revolt seems necessary, many people are willing to go there.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

(January 28). This year features your sensational rise to a position you've had your eye on for several years now. You're going about business in a more politically savvy manner and therefore find yourself in favor with foreign diplomats. A well-constructed financial plan is your ticket to higher earnings. Make your romantic feelings known in May.

ARIES (March 21-April 19).

You're inventive and sharp. But be careful not to overdo things. It's the simple idea that takes off like a rocket. A Gemini or Sagittarius will help you fulfill a tall order in the easiest possible manner.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20).

Your mind needs some extra help in getting going. Confused emotions could be putting a damper on your synapses. Deep breathing helps. The more you read, the better you think.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21).

Listen: The faint echoes of 1,000 violins play in the distance. Why do people tug on your heartstrings so? Perhaps because you are easily swayed by stories of an unhappy childhood.

CANCER (June 22-July 22).

Just because you've been unaware of a trend thus far doesn't mean the trend doesn't exist. Look for possible patterns in your relationships. Discovering a self-perpetuated cycle could set you free.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22).

You'll hear some pretty silly excuses as to why someone didn't come through for you. But you'll probably be too busy accepting the gracious generosity from other people to care! A Libra flirts with you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22).

Fighting for someone else's rights brings out the warrior in you. "No" is not an option, and you're willing to make a scene if that's what it takes. You're now the sign most likely to be called to jury duty.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23).

The rules are simple now, so follow them instead of looking for deeper explanations. Be wary of people who need to dominate the conversation. If you take the relationship further, they may bully you in other ways.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21).

Exterior influences promise to soothe and calm you. They can't take the place of internal satisfaction, though. You are quite susceptible to advertising, so be careful not to fall into a consumer vortex.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21).

The energy of love is always there; we need only be open to it. Reaching out to friends, however small the gesture, will bring about a generally uniting energy. Feelings of isolation melt away.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19).

Defenses are there for a reason, right? Without them, wouldn't you crumble? Maybe not. It's more likely that you're holding onto a certain coping mechanism out of habit. Let go, and you'll become invulnerable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18).

Wisdom comes from the mouths of babes—or at least from the mouth of someone you formerly didn't consider wise. You'll recognize the rightness of a statement and be utterly shocked.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20).

You hurt yourself into the pool of life without concern for safety or liability—which is just as it should be! Your cannonball style looks like so much fun to everyone else that you'll soon attract a crowd of wannabe revellers.

Creators Syndicate

Holiday Mathis

Calvin and Hobbes

Jump Start

Zits

Cathy

Hi and Lois

Beetle Bailey

Red and Rover

Better or Worse

Peanuts

Fotrot

B.C.

Baby Blues

Spider Man

Blondie

Dilbert

Hagar

Garfield

Eugene Sheffer Crossword

Across

- 1 Stern
disciplinarian?
4 Prohibit
7 Settle a debt
12 "Eureka!"
13 Shock's partner
14 Outlier
15 Baskcheest
16 Filled to the brim
18 Milwaukee product
19 Andrea Bocelli
renditions
20 100 centesimi
22 Cill quintupled
23 Broadway debacle
27 Pump purchase
29 Ass or zebra
31 Duck
34 Hypnotized
35 Script text
37 Recyclable item

Down

- 1 "Attraction"
2 Tex-Mex treat
3 Antic
4 Mexican peninsula, for short
5 Edgar and Hugo
6 Altered recording
7 Look-alikes, idiomatically
8 Curve
9 Tie up the phone
10 Handle
11 — XING (road sign)
17 Macadamize
19 Nimble
23 Laugh-provoking
24 Cover
25 Indivisible
26 Apiece

- 28 Commotion
30 Sine-nod link
31 Toss in 32 Through
33 Galley implement 36 Seles competitor
37 Swindle
40 Tolerate
42 Surround closely
43 With festivity
44 Folklore figure
45 Stevenson villain
46 People in general
48 Leprechaun's dance
49 Prior night
50 Torched
51 Moon vehicle

Answer to Previous Puzzle

I-28

CRYPTOQUIP

H YCDHY AHSZEL MHT
AMJT VCAAC JL JAT
HOSZEAJTZVZLAT: "AMJETA

DCVZ. AMJETA TZESZ.O."
Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHICH PROMINENT
SWORDSMEN SHOULD DWELL IN OMAN'S
CAPITAL? THE THREE MUSCAT-EERS!
Today's Cryptoquip Clue: M equals H

Report online predator promptly

Dear Abby: My brother recently discovered that his 16-year-old stepdaughter has been chatting online with a man in another state, up to and including phone sex. He went into her e-mail without her permission to see what was going on after she ran up a $300 phone bill.

When he confronted her about the bill, she lied and said she had been talking to a girlfriend. Her mother — my brother's wife — thinks her daughter would never do anything wrong and gets mad at my brother if he implies otherwise. He doesn't want to do anything about the situation for fear of her wrath.

I say, the girl's safety is more important than a fight with his wife. Do you know if there's a task force that he could e-mail this information to and remain anonymous? I would like to see that man caught before something horrible happens to this beautiful young girl.

— Protective in Colorado

Dear Protective: The girl has been victimized by a predator. Your brother's wife is doing her daughter no good by behaving like an ostrich and pretending this incident never happened.

There are several things your brother can do. He should contact his local FBI office and/or visit the Web site www.fbi.gov and check out the area devoted to cyber crimes — specifically crimes against children under "What We Investigate." If he is referred to his local police department, he should contact them immediately so they can investigate further. The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children also has an informative Web site, www.missingkids.com, which provides information regarding exploited children and an opportunity to report it.

Dear Abby

Dear Abby: I am a single woman, and while I have kissed a lot of men, only a few were great kissers. You don't want to end up on a great guy because his kiss is only average. I gently tried to provide a bit of coaching with an ex, but it made him defensive.

How do you teach a middle-aged man to kiss? Before I get into another relationship, a little advice in this area would be helpful. Also, would you approach it early on — or after there is an established relationship?

— Wants a Great Kiss

Dear Wants: Since different people are turned on by different things, no one should expect to get it right on the first try. A considerate kisser wants to please.

The best way I know of to "teach" a middle-aged man to kiss — or a young one — is to demonstrate, demonstrate. Practice makes perfect, and the way to approach it is soon after he makes his next attempt.

Letters for this column — with your name and phone number — should be addressed to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles CA 90069. Readers can write to Abby on the Internet at <http://www.ueppress.com/dearabby>. Universal Press Syndicate

JUMBLE

Unscramble these four Jumbles, one letter to each square, to form four ordinary words.

CINEW

©2005 Tribune Media Services, Inc. All Rights Reserved.

DEGEH

URKEEB

REECCO

www.jumble.com

Print answer here:

Yesterday's

Jumbles: LEGAL PAGAN INLAID AERATE

Answer: The bachelors friends had a difficult time doing this — "PARTING"

THAT SCRAMBLED WORD GAME

by Henri Arnold and Mike Argiron

Now arrange the circled letters to form the surprise answer, as suggested by the above cartoon.

(Answers tomorrow)

Spouse should check out vasectomy

Dear Annie: I am a 36-year-old mother of two. After our first child was born, I suffered four miscarriages, two of which required a D&C, which created adhesions from scar tissue. I underwent two hysteroscopies and an emergency laparoscopy. After all this, we were able to have a second child, delivered via C-section. But I then had another miscarriage and decided enough was enough. I don't want to get pregnant again.

I would like my husband to have a vasectomy, but he refuses. Our current form of birth control is the withdrawal method, which isn't much fun, not to mention it's not the most effective. Frankly, I've been poked and prodded enough, and I don't want to undergo more surgery for a tubal ligation. Birth control pills are not an option, and I have an allergy to latex, so condoms are out.

On top of my medical history, it's cheaper for my husband to have a vasectomy, and the revery time is fairly quick. A tubal would require a month off work without pay, not to mention the increased risks and chance of infection.

Annie's Mailbox

My mother-in-law has her boy convinced he'll suffer lifelong urinary infections if he undergoes a vasectomy. I think my husband believes he'll be somehow less of a man, so he is dead-set against it.

Dear Southwest: It doesn't say much about your husband's character that he would put his macho pride above your health. We won't even get into his intrusive mother, who has no business being part of this decision.

For the record, vasectomies are quite safe and have absolutely no effect on a man's sexual drive or masculinity. If your husband is worried about surgery, he can look into non-surgical options.

Dear Annie: For years, my husband and I have been helping our daughter and son-in-law by taking care of their three children, whom we dearly love. When our daughter was working, she paid us a little, although it didn't cover the cost of the children's food or the gas to take them to and from school. Now that she is back in college, she says she can't pay us anything at all.

We have the grandkids every day. At dinner, their parents stop by to eat with us. Money that we hoped to have for our golden years is dwindling away. How do we tell our daughter she needs to help us with the cost of caring for their children, or she needs to take care of them herself?

Almost Broke Grandma: Dear Grandma: You tell her in plain English. She is taking advantage of you because you permit it. Inform your daughter that she needs to find other arrangements, because you no longer have the time or money to raise her children. It's her turn.

Annie's mailbox is written by Kathy Mitchell and Marcy Sauer, longtime editors of the Ann Landers column. Please e-mail your questions to anniesmailbox@comcast.net, or write to Annie's Mailbox, c/o Creator Syndicate, 5777 W. Century Blvd., Suite 700, Los Angeles, CA 90045.

Creators Syndicate

Family Circus

© 2005 King Features Inc. All Rights Reserved. www.familycircus.com

Domis the Menace

The Far Side

Non Sequitur

STRIPE CLASSIFIED

advertise with STRIPES CLASSIFIED

PLACE A PRIVATE PARTY AD IN FOUR SIMPLE STEPS †

1. Write an ad (be sure to include the item, price/or best offer (OBO) and phone number).
2. Select a 4, 7, or 30 day package.
3. Choose a category from the index running most days in Stars & Stripes Classified.
4. Decide which day you would like your ad to begin running, and submit with the appropriate payment on or before the deadline listed below. *

MONDAY	DUE NOON THURSDAY
TUESDAY	DUE 4 PM THURSDAY
WEDNESDAY	DUE 4 PM FRIDAY
THURSDAY	DUE 4 PM MONDAY

FRIDAY	DUE 4 PM TUESDAY
SATURDAY	DUE NOON WEDNESDAY
SUNDAY	DUE 4 PM WEDNESDAY

PRIVATE PARTY PACKAGES

1. 4 lines for 4 days for $20.00 ($5.00 per additional line). $
2. 4 lines for 7 days for $30.00 ($7.50 per additional line). $
3. 4 lines for 30 days for $55.00 ($10.00 per additional line). $

† Private Party Rates apply only to individuals advertising personal merchandise or private property for sale, up to two major items such as a boat, motor vehicle or home. Commercial Rates apply to property and/or merchandise for rent and commercial operations. Employment Rates apply for Jobs Offered and Job Fairs. For Commercial or Employment Rate information contact Stars & Stripes Classified.

* Payment is required in advance in order to publish ads. Acceptable forms of payment include: Visa, MasterCard, Check or Money Order. Please do not send cash. If an ad is not received by the designated deadline, it will begin running the next available day. Please allow one extra day for all federal holidays.

* Classified ad lines include approximately 25 characters (this includes display) per line.

Deadline to place, cancel, or make any change to an ad is four business days prior to first date of publication. It is the responsibility of the advertiser to contact Stars & Stripes Classified on the first date of publication to correct errors. If the ad has a typographical error, that does not affect the integral value of the ad, i.e., misspelled words, wrong category (can-by code), GPS, boat, ticked incorrectly, it will be corrected, but no exception will be given. Incorrect phone numbers, phone numbers, wrong dates, wrong dates, or model listed incorrectly will result in a misaligned for one additional day. Stars & Stripes reserves the right to edit and return any ad and all ads considered for publication. All classified advertisements are non-refundable.

... it's a SNAP!

24 hour e-mail & fax service (Phone Service 8:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m.)
E-mail: classified@mail.estripes.osd.mil
Fax: Germany 00155-020-3376
Phone: GERMANY 00155-601-447/328/212 or DSN 344-847/8328/8212

U.K. Free In Europe: Belgium: 0800-7802 Germany: 0800-101-271
Netherlands: 0800-022304 USA: 800-94504
U.K.: 0800-058828 USA: 1-877-751-8352

Customer Service: 06155-601437 or DSN 344-8437
For INFORMATION ON BUSINESS RATES ON ADVERTISING IN THE SERVICE DIRECTORY, CONTACT SENA ADAMS AT CIV: 06155-601203 or DSN: 344-8203.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING COUPON

☐ 4 times/4 days @ $20 ☐ 4 times/7 days @ $30 ☐ 4 times/30 days @ $55

Business Name: _____ Phone #: _____

Your Name: _____

Visa/MC (circle one): _____ Exp. Date: _____

Category #: _____ Run Date(s): _____

Ad: _____

Announcements 040

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142
Autos for Sale 142

Autos for Sale 142
Autos for

Waldorf and Funk among five Hope Classic leaders

The Associated Press

LA QUINTA, Calif. — Duffey Waldorf rolled in eight birdie putts, didn't make a bogey and still had lots of company atop the leader board.

Golf roundup
Waldorf's 8-under 64 in Wednesday's opening round of the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic was only good enough to put him in a five-way tie for the lead.

Fred Funk, Robert Damron, Ted Purdy and Joe Ogilvie also opened the 90-hole tournament with 64s.

Fred Couples, the 1998 champion, had a 65 and was in another group of five in the desert tournament in which scores traditionally are among the lowest of the year.

Defending champion Phil Mickelson, who also won the event in 2002, shot 66 and was tied with six others.

Only 13 of the 128 players finished the first round over par.

Mike Weir, the 2003 Hope champion, opened with a 71, leaving him tied for 93rd.

The players rotate among four courses for the first four days of the pro-am, then the low 70 pros and ties play the final round at PGA West on Sunday.

Waldorf, looking for his first victory in almost five years, began his round at PGA West by rolling in a 6-foot birdie putt on the first hole, then finished it with a fine shot out of the bunker and a 4-foot birdie putt on the final hole.

He was dead-accurate with his irons most of the day, setting up short birdie putts.

"Accuracy and good putting for me today," Waldorf said. "I putted the best I've putted this year, really had good pace on the ball and was reading the greens well."

"I kept the ball in play for the most part, didn't get in a lot of trouble." Couples was pleased with his round, but cautious about getting too greedy.

"You can't go around thinking you're going to shoot 7-under here every day," he said after his round at Tamarisk Country Club. "What I'm trying to pay attention to is how I'm hitting the ball."

"What I did today is I really drove the ball well, compared to San Diego, where I was everywhere. Today I hit the ball long and straight and the course played easy."

Mickelson, coming off a tie for 56th at Torrey Pines in his 2005 debut, is seeking improvement.

"My short irons, certainly that's an area I need to work on at this week," said Mickelson, who beat Skip Kendall in a playoff to win the event last year.

David Duval shot 10-over 82 at PGA West, 23 shots more than when he won the tournament on the final day six years ago with a four record-tying 69 on the same course.

John Daly shot 72 and was tied for 126th.

Montgomery shoots 65, leads by three in Singapore

SINGAPORE — Colin Montgomerie shot 7-under-par 65 Thursday to take a three-stroke lead after the first round of the Caltex Masters.

Actor/comedian George Lopez reads a green during the Bob Hope Classic on Wednesday. Celebrities play with pros during the first four days of the 90-hole event that is played on four courses.

The defending champion made seven birdies at the Laguna National Golf and Country Club to lead Nick Dougherty, Mark Foster and Danny Chia, who all shot 68. Seven were tied at 69.

"I really feel that this is a fantastic start to the new year," said Montgomerie, who won last year's tournament by three strokes.

Currently ranked 82nd in the world, Montgomerie has set a goal of returning to the top 25, and Thursday pronounced himself "happier on and off the course ... as I have ever been."

More NHL talks yield promise of further talks

By IRA PODELL
The Associated Press

There's no telling how the NHL labor negotiations are going behind closed doors.

For that matter, there's no telling where those doors even are.

So closely guarded are the minutest details from the league's latest round of talks with the players' association, exactly what they're talking about is anyone's guess.

The sides held their third meeting in less than a week Wednesday in Toronto and were successful in keeping the exact location a secret. After the 5½-hour negotiating session, the only detail revealed was that another meeting would take place this week.

Although nothing had been officially scheduled by Wednesday night, the sides were leaning toward getting together either Thursday or Friday in New York.

There is no secret that time is running out to save the season. How the NHL and the players' association are working to prevent that has become a big mystery. Talks were held in small groups again on Wednesday, three people representing the union and four on the league side.

"We will meet again this week," NHL chief legal officer Bill Daly said. "We have no further comment at this time."

Before getting together this week, both sides took a tight-lipped approach, adding they wanted negotiations to be out of the public eye.

Daly told The Associated Press on Tuesday that discussions were at a critical stage and that only days remained to reach a deal that would save the season. The fact that more talks have been set up provides at least a glimmer of hope that the NHL won't become the first North American sports league to lose an entire season to a labor dispute.

STRIPES CLASSIFIED

Jobs Offered

630

It's All About You!

EDS is one of the worldwide leading information and technology service providers with more than 130,000 employees in 60 countries. Our services range from management consulting and IT-services to complete management of business operations.

EDS IS LOOKING FOR THE FOLLOWING: SYSTEMS ADMINISTRATOR

For Army Human Resource System (AHRIS) Service Desk

Individual is needed for support of systems administration functions, which are primarily service desk tasks:

- Basic troubleshooting of user problems with desktop and application issues
- Knowledge of Windows NT 4.0, 2000, and XP desktop systems
- Reporting defective hardware for repair
- Fundamental knowledge of MS Office applications and Oracle clients
- Troubleshooting network issues with PCs and printers, understanding of TCP/IP network issues
- Good understanding of Active Directory administration
- Good written & oral communication skills and experience in training a plus
- Able to attend to U.S. Secret clearance

Position will not provide logistical support. Personnel must be available to start in February 2005. In order to be considered, please submit via fax or email.

Rob Woodrow
EDS U.S. Army European Operations Support
Phone: 0614240-2703
Fax: 061422-80-4103
Rob.woodrow@eds.com

EDS is a registered mark and the EDS logo is a trademark of Electronic Data System Corporation. EDS is an equal opportunity employer and values the diversity of its people. Copyright 2004 Electronic Data System Corporation. All rights reserved.

Jobs Offered

630

ATTENTION LADIES LOOKING FOR A PART TIME JOB?

We're the C.L. Lloyd Johnson Exchange Division are looking for a Retail Specialist in the Ramstein and Kaiserslautern area. Part time position with flexible hours for order taking, merchandising and stocking our fine line of products. Position open immediately. Please fax resume to: 06181-46080 or call 06181-46081

What's your scene?

STARS & STRIPES
Your HomeTown Newspaper

Buy Stripes this Sunday and every Sunday to get your scene!

Jobs Offered

630

TERRITORY MANAGER

F/T Territory Manager needed to sell and service: Military Retail technology, the Vogelweb/Ramstein, Heidelberg/Mannheim, area. Responsibilities include writing orders; driving sales, assist w/store merchandising & managing employees. Product include the leading brands of prestige fragrances, consumer electronics, apparel & giftware. ID Card a plus. Starting @ $32K (salary negotiable) plus Car Allowance & Expenses. Send resume to shanc@mscso.com or call 66134-26709

Employment Opportunity!

The U.S. Army Medical Material Center, Europe (USAMMCE), is recruiting for a licensed REGISTERED NURSE (RN) with medical, surgical and/or critical care experience for a permanent, full-time position as a Nurse Consultant (GS-10-09). The desired candidate will have experience with both inpatient and ambulatory nursing care.

Duties include: communicating with internal staff, external customers, and manufacturers/suppliers to identify product requirements; determining availability of resources; and identifying clinically appropriate and cost effective substitute items.

We are proud to offer a competitive civilian salary and benefit package.

Interested candidates please call: DSN: 495-7236265 (Commercial: 06331-867236265) or fax resumes to: Manpower Branch, Resource Management Division at DSN: 495-4225 (Commercial: 06331-866225)

Come and be part of our world-class Team!

What's your scene?

Buy
Stripes this Sunday and every Sunday to get your scene!

Wimbledon champion Maria Sharapova of Russia shows frustration during her women's singles semifinal match against Serena Williams in the Australian Open. The American won the match 2-6, 7-5, 8-6.

And in this corner...

Sharapova, Serena Williams are showing signs of developing into one of tennis' storied rivalries

BY DENNIS PASSA

The Associated Press

MELBOURNE, Australia — It's not in the same league yet — of Billie Jean vs. Chris, Martina vs. Steffi, or most recently, Serena vs. Venus.

But the recent rivalry in big matches between Serena Williams, 23, and 17-year-old Maria Sharapova has the potential — both players agree — to turn into an enduring one.

"I think she is one of the best competitors out there," Sharapova said Thursday after her 2-6, 7-5, 8-6 loss to Williams in the Australian Open semifinal in which Williams saved three match points.

"She's been in those situations when she was down in the third set, and out of nowhere she comes how to turn it around. That comes from experience, that comes from her fighting spirit."

Williams, who has six career Grand Slam singles titles, won the first match against Sharapova at Miami in 2004. She then lost both big ones — last year's Wimbledon final and in the season-ending WTA Championships.

"I think it definitely lived up to expectations," Williams said of Thursday's match. "I definitely think she has a fighting spirit and I think that's gotten her to where she is today."

She also feels that Sharapova, who moved to Florida from Russia at age 9, considers her a role model.

"I think she [Serena Williams] is one of the best competitors out there. She's been in those situations when she was down in the third set, and out of nowhere she knows how to turn it around."

Maria Sharapova

Wimbledon champion

"I definitely think she's probably looked at me as a reference growing up, which is exciting," Williams said. "I never thought I'd play someone that probably looked up to me."

The mutual admiration ended their Thursday. Asked what Williams had showed her during the match, Sharapova replied, "Nothing."

And Williams reminded everyone that, although she credited Sharapova with having a fighting spirit, "I'm still top fighter out there."

Sharapova could learn from Williams' comeback in the match. Sharapova served for the match at 5-4 in both the second and third sets, but she didn't have a match point in the second set, but was a point away from victory three times in the third.

"In the second, I thought, 'OK, I could have won this set already, why am I still out here?'" Williams said. "In the third, I thought, 'OK, I've been in this situation before, no problem.'"

Williams had saved match points and won three previous matches — against Kim Clijsters in the 2003 Australian Open semifinal (in which she beat sister Venus in the final), and twice against Lindsay Davenport, her opponent in Saturday's final.

"Those are always the best wins, when you're down match point, because you realize that you can't give up," she said.

Sharapova said she didn't give up either on Thursday.

"I gave it all I had. I played from my heart," she said. "I didn't take my chances when I could. And that's what this game is all about. The match could have gone any way, and she took her chances and she played well when she needed to. That's the difference."

The fourth-ranked Sharapova was philosophical about the loss.

"This is not a spirit, it's a marathon," Sharapova said, foreshadowing future big matches against Williams and other top players.

"Of course I'm sad, and obviously it's a tough one to lose. But I've got a long way ahead of me."

Safin dazzles in beating Federer

BY PAUL ALEXANDER

The Associated Press

MELBOURNE, Australia — Marat Safin ended top-ranked Roger Federer's 26-match winning streak in a classic Australian Open semifinal, outlasting the defending champion 5-7, 6-4, 5-7, 7-6 (8-6), 9-7 in a dazzling 4½-hour match.

Safin, seeded fourth and trying to regain the No. 1 ranking he held briefly after winning the U.S. Open in 2000, saved one match point in overcoming the unusually jittery Federer, who hadn't dropped a set in five previous matches, including a quarter-final domination of Andre Agassi.

Federer received treatment for elbow and back pain in the fifth set, then saved six match points before Safin broke his serve with a forehand into an open court as Federer watched from his knees.

Safin, reaching the final at Melbourne Park for the third time in four years, next meets the winner of Friday night's semifinal between second-ranked Andy Roddick and No. 3 Lleyton Hewitt.

The women's final matches seventh-seeded Serena Williams against top-ranked Lindsay Davenport. Williams fended off three match points to avenge her Wimbledon final loss to No. 4 Maria Sharapova 2-6, 7-5, 8-6, stretching her Australian Open winning streak to 13 matches.

Davenport looked lethargic after playing more than four hours Wednesday, but rallied to hold off No. 19 Nathalie Dechy of France 2-6, 7-6 (7-5), 6-4.

Safin vs. Federer was pure crowd-pleasing tennis between two of the game's most gifted all-around players. Every point was a struggle as they punished weak shots and swapped stinging groundstrokes and drop volleys.

"It's like a brain fight against... Roger Federer," Safin said. "I think we played the best we could and I couldn't give any more than that."

Safin was exhausted going into last year's final — which he lost to Federer — after six matches that averaged three hours.

Demonstrating the skills that took him to No. 1 after his only Grand Slam title at Flushing Meadows, he was much fresher this time — and needed to be.

"I'm not playing against just a simple player. He's No. 1 in the world," Safin said. It was his birthday on Thursday, and he planned a quiet celebration with a glass of champagne when he got back to his room in the early hours of Friday morning.

"It was one of the toughest matches of my life. I need time to recover," he said. "Five sets is a kind of lottery. Anything can happen."

While serving at 5-6, he mis-hit a forehand, then sent a backhand long to give Federer the first set. Frustrated, the mercurial Russian tossed his racket high in the air and missed the catch.

Federer then lost his first set of the tournament, showing the first real signs of tension in 11 days. Serving at 1-1 in the second set, he smacked an overhead wide, then hit a backhand into the net for the today's service break. Safin held serve the rest of the way.

Usually unflappable, Federer committed an uncharacteristic 14 errors in the set to just five for Safin. Clearly frustrated, Federer shouted at himself after missing opportunities and charged the net more frequently than usual.

As in the first set, Federer broke serve with Safin serving at 5-6 in the fourth. Safin smashed his second racket of the tournament after one error, and sent a forehand way long.

The last time they met in a tie-breaker, Federer prevailed 20-18 in the Masters Cup. This time, Safin trailed 5-2 before running off the next three points. Federer made a stunning drop shot from the baseline to serve for the match at 6-5. Safin then won the next three points to force a deciding fifth set.

Federer called in trainer Paul Ness, who massaged his right forearm and elbow. Three games later, Ness returned to stretch out Federer's back as he lay on the court.

Federer said he felt some pain in his right arm, from the shoulder to his fingers.

"It's not an injury — it's just something that was bothering me," he said.

Safin took a 4-2 lead in the deciding set as Federer committed his seventh double fault on break point. Clearly frustrated, Federer served by saving two match points as Safin served 5-3, then held to get back on serve. Federer fended off another match point in the next game, another two while serving at 6-7 and a sixth at 7-8 before Safin finished it.

Davenport is healthy after a bout of bronchitis just before the

Australian Open

Thursday
All Melbourne Park
Melbourne, Australia

Purse: $142 million (Grand Slam)
Surface: Hard-Outdoor

Singles
Men
Marat Safin (4, Russia) def. Roger Federer (1, Switzerland), 5-7, 6-4, 5-7 (6-6), 9-7 (6-6)

Singles
Women
Serena Williams (4, United States) def. Maria Sharapova (4, Russia), 2-6, 7-5, 8-6, 9-7 (6-6)

Singles
Men
Nathalie Dechy (19, France), 2-6, 7-6 (5-6), 6-4

Singles
Women
Wayne Black (4, Zimbabwe) def. Zinabwewe (4, Zimbabwe), 6-4, 7-5, 8-6, 9-7 (6-6)

Singles
Men
Bob and Mike Bryan (21, United States), 6-4, 6-3, 6-3

Singles
Women
Mirnyi (4, Belarus), 6-4, 6-3

Quarterfinals
Men
Kevin Ulster (4, South Africa) def. Bob Bryan (1, United States), 6-4, 6-3

Quarterfinals
Women
Russia, 6-7 (5), 6-3, 7-6 (8)

tournament, which she won in 2000 for her last Grand Slam title. But she was tighter after a 2½-hour set during her victory Friday that was followed by more than 1½ hours in doubles.

It showed. She finished with 48 winners and 52 enforced errors — but only 11 in the final set as she finally loosened up.

"It's been a long two days. I was up and up and up. I just felt pretty tight all over," Davenport said. "It wasn't my greatest day playing tennis — but I'll take it."

Limping LeBron lifts Cavaliers to victory

BY TOM WITHERS
The Associated Press

CLEVELAND — The legend of LeBron James has a new chapter — complete with a twist.

Shaking off a sprained left ankle, James returned for the final minutes of the fourth quarter to lead the Cleveland Cavaliers to a 114-111 victory Wednesday night over the Memphis Grizzlies.

James finished with 27 points, a career-high 15 assists and nine rebounds, blocking out the pain over the closing 4:53 to make several big plays as the Cavaliers held off the short-handed Grizzlies.

"I had to lead my team," James said. "My 80 percent can help us win. I can't be scared. I've got to be a soldier out there."

James' injury appears to be serious enough that he may miss a few games.

"I know when I wake up in the morning it will be on fire," said James, already playing with a broken cheekbone. "I won't be able to walk. I'll get as much treatment as I can and just try to prepare myself to play. If I'm not able to play, I'm sure my teammates will step up."

James expects to have more tests Thursday.

When James came down on Dahntay Jones' foot and rolled his ankle with 9:33 left, more than 17,000 fans in Gund Arena went eerily silent and Cavaliers coach Paul Silas feared the worst.

"You kind of see your life flash before your eyes," Silas said. "I saw a whole bunch of losses coming up."

The Cleveland Cavaliers' LeBron James (23) is helped off the court by DeSagana Diop, left, and Scott Williams after injuring his left ankle in the fourth quarter against Memphis.

Instead, the determined James, who had to be helped off the floor by teammates, came back and made sure the first-place Cavaliers didn't blow a lead while improving to an Eastern Conference-best 15-4 at home and 25-16 overall.

It looked as though James' night was over with the Cavaliers up 95-85. After falling to the floor, play continued for another 10 seconds while James rolled around, pounding his chest on the court before slinging his protective face mask and headband away in disgust.

As he was helped off, James complained to officials that he had been undercut by Jones, who had earlier dunked over him on a breakaway and talked trash to Cleveland's star.

"I had nowhere to land," said James, who didn't think Jones did it intentionally.

Jones wanted to make sure that James was OK and visited him following the game. The pair shook hands and spoke briefly while James tended his sore ankle near his corner locker.

"Me and him are friends before anything," Jones said.

James, who coincidentally sprained his other ankle in Cleveland's 41st game a year ago, said he didn't think the ankle was badly hurt when he first went down. By the time he left the floor, James said it felt well enough to try and walk some.

"I got to the locker room, we retaped it and I was ready to go," he said. "I wasn't 100 percent, but I was able to finish the game."

Drew Gooden scored 27 points — six during the 4½ minutes when James was out — and had 11 rebounds and Zydrunas Ilgauskas added 22 points for the Cavaliers.

The Grizzlies, playing without injured center Vince Gasol and forward James Posey, were led by Mike Miller's season-high 28 points.

"We came in here kind of short-handed, and they were, too. So it's not an excuse," Miller said. "They executed better than the stretch. He [James] came back in and made some plays."

The Cavaliers, who were missing super-sub Anderson Varejao, lost starter Ira Newble in the first quarter when a Achilles' injury.

Clippers finally figure out rival Lakers

BY JOHN NADEL
The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — The Los Angeles Lakers and Los Angeles Clippers haven't had much of a rivalry over the years, because the Lakers have always been the better team.

It was the Clippers who dominated Wednesday night.

Elton Brand had 28 points and 14 rebounds, Bobby Simmons added 21 points, and the Clippers led nearly all the way in a 105-89 victory.

The Lakers had beaten the Clippers five straight times, including twice this season, and in 28 of the last 31 games. The Clippers have won only 20 of 88 games against the Lakers since moving from San Diego to Los Angeles before the 1984-85 season.

The teams now seem more evenly matched than ever.

"I hope so, man. After a while, you get tired of hearing about the Lakers," second-year Clippers center Chris Kaman said.

Kaman had 14 points and career-high totals of 16 rebounds and five blocked shots in teaming with Brand to dominate the inside.

The Clippers outrebounded the Lakers 51-39.

"We just got manhandled on the boards again," said Lakers coach Rudy Tomjanovich, whose team was outrebounded 48-36 by Seattle on Tuesday night.

"I think they were really ready for us because we had won the previous two games," Tomjanovich said. "They came out after us and took it to us. It was a pounding, and I'm not really happy with our response. Sometimes you've got to take your lumps."

Corey Maggette, who leads the Clippers with a 21.5-point average, returned after missing two games because of a sore left foot and scored 16 of his 20 points in the fourth quarter.

Maggette, who attended Duke, compared playing the Lakers to a Duke-North Carolina game.

"It's a rivalry game. We play in the same arena," he said.

The win was the second straight for the Clippers (20-22) following a season-high five-game losing streak.

"Our guys have played well, even through the losing streak," Clippers coach Mike Dunleavy said. "We're hopeful. We're trying to make a push for the playoffs."

Chuck Atkins led the Lakers with 17 points. Caron Butler added 16 points, Brian Cook scored 14 and Jamarque Johnson had 11 points and seven rebounds.

The Lakers (22-18) have lost two straight games and are 3-3 since Kobe Bryant, the league's No. 2 scorer, severely sprained his right ankle Jan. 13.

Mediocre Celtics take Atlantic lead

BY JIMMY GOLEN
The Associated Press

BOSTON — Strike up the band: The Boston Celtics are all alone in first place in the NBA's Atlantic Division.

"If you win two in a row, you're automatically in first place in the Atlantic Division. It's in the agreement, you know," coach Doc Rivers said Wednesday night after the Celtics beat the Indiana Pacers 100-86. "Hell, you lose two in a row and you can be in first place in the Atlantic Division."

The Celtics are leading the division at two games below .500, passing Philadelphia after the 76ers lost 117-107 to the Washington Wizards. The Celtics hadn't been in first since the season since Larry Bird was playing.

That was at the end of the 1990-91 season, and the Celtics were 56-26. These Celtics are 20-22.

It's good to be on top of the division, which puts us in the No. 3 seed" for the playoffs, said Paul Pierce, who scored 23. "But even though we're in first place, we're not playing like a first-place team."

Raef LaFrentz had 12 points with 11 rebounds, Gary Payton had 10 points with nine assists and Ricky Davis scored 18 as a reserve to spoil Stephen Jackson's return from a 30-game brawl suspension.

Jackson scored 17 points in 38 minutes in his first game back since the Nov. 19 melee against Detroit, when Ron Artest went into the stands seeking a fan who threw a cup at him. Jackson followed Artest into the crowd and took several swings at fans.

Jerry Stackman's O'Neal scored 25 for the Pacers.

Jackson hit the Pacers' first basket of the night — a three-pointer in the first two minutes — and scored eight points in the first quarter. But he went 0-for-6 from three-point range in the next three quarters and scored just six points in the second half.

"I felt like a kid. I'm back and I'm happy to be back," he said. "I was pumped, excited to be out there. But as the game went on, my shots fell shorter and shorter from the rim. You have to be out there to get in shape."

Boston won its fourth consecutive home game a night after snapping a nine-game road losing streak. The Celtics had lost seven consecutive games to the Pacers, including a four-game sweep in the first round of last year's playoffs.

"At times, you have to be a 'not tonight' team," Rivers said. "You say, 'If you're better than us or not, you're not going to beat us.'"

The Celtics went on 12-2 run at the end of the third quarter and the beginning of the fourth, taking an 82-68 lead on Jiri Welsch's three-pointer with 9:56 to play. The Pacers cut the lead and came back to score 13 of the next 15 points, making it 84-81 on Austin Croshere's second three-pointer of the run with 6:20 left.

The LARGEST SELECTION of Wheels & Tires... on the web!

Check it out... tires.com

DISCOUNT TIRE DIRECT

MOBILE INDIANAPOLIS PHOENIX MEMPHIS
 800-444-4444 800-444-4444 800-444-4444 800-444-4444

Kalamazoo Houston St. Louis San Jose San Francisco
 800-444-4444 800-444-4444 800-444-4444 800-444-4444 800-444-4444

We Ship Directly to your APO/FPO

We Ship Directly to your APO/FPO

Underachieving Nuggets gets 'more Karl'

The Associated Press

DENVER — George Karl was hired as head coach of the Denver Nuggets on Thursday, returning to the NBA after nearly two years to lead a team that has failed to live up to lofty expectations.

The deal was finalized Thursday morning and announced in Milwaukee, where the Nuggets play the Bucks on Thursday night.

Karl is expected to be on the bench for that game, making his debut with the Nuggets against the team that fired him in 2003.

Interim coach Michael Cooper will stay on as an assistant.

"We are very excited to be adding a coach of George's stature to our organization," Denver general manager Kiki Vandeweghe said in a statement. "He has won everywhere he has been and his track record speaks for itself. We also want to commend Michael for the job he did under difficult circumstances."

Denver started the season as a favorite in the Western Conference after adding All-Star power forward Kenyon Martin to a team that was coming off its first playoff appearance in nine years.

The Nuggets still haven't lived up to that potential, entering Friday's game 17-20 in 12½ games out of first place in the Northwest Division.

Ref admits fixing German soccer games

FRANKFURT, Germany — A German soccer referee admitted to fixing games and said Thursday he was ready to cooperate with prosecutors to clear up the sport's biggest scandal in the country in more than 30 years.

"The accusations made against me in the public are true," referee Robert Hoyzer said in a statement issued by his lawyer.

"I regret my behavior profoundly and I excuse myself to the German soccer federation, my referee colleagues and all soccer fans," the statement said.

The German soccer federation accused Hoyzer of manipulating the outcomes of at least five games in Germany's lower divisions and the German Cup after betting on them. He initially denied the charges.

"We are shocked, we never thought something like this was possible," said Volker Roth, the federation's supervisor of referees. "But there is nothing you can do against criminal energy."

Rudi Assauer, general manager of first-division club Schalke, said, "This case is exactly what should not be happening one year before

Sports briefs

the World Cup."

Germany is hosting the 2006 World Cup.

The German soccer federation (DFB) plans to ban betting on games by referees and will install an "early warning system" to find out when usually high sums are bet on a specific game.

Hoyzer said he had given a "comprehensive, no-holds-barred account of everything he knew about the case and persons involved in it" to his lawyer, Stephan Hothoff-Pförtner.

The N24 television news channel said Hoyzer had implicated others and acknowledged the existence of an organized crime betting group.

According to a television channel in Berlin, TV.BERLIN, Hoyzer received a "five-digit" sum to manipulate games.

The German magazine Stern reported Wednesday that Hoyzer had regular contact with organized criminals from Croatia involved in betting. The DFB said it had also heard of such reports but had no means of verifying them.

On Wednesday, the DFB filed charges against Hoyzer with Berlin prosecutors, who are examining the case.

Hoyzer said he was willing to testify before state prosecutors and the DFB.

BYU player accused of lying to police will transfer

PROVO, Utah — A wide receiver Antwan Harris, accused of lying to police investigators during rape allegations against other Brigham Young football players, will transfer from BYU, the school announced.

The Garland, Texas, native had 17 interceptions for 149 yards last season.

He and defensive back Billy Skinner, 19, were suspended last month after lesser charges were lodged against them related to the rape investigation. Four other players were accused of rape and were suspended by BYU for one year.

The charge against Harris of providing false information to police is a second-degree felony.

"In response to the new direction this program is taking, with an increase in both accountability and discipline," Antwan has decided to pursue his football career at another university," coach Bronco Mendall said Wednesday. "He has my full support."

keep it and give it to the fans and let them see it."

Mientkiewicz said he will not receive any money under the deal and "probably" would get the ball back after a year.

"Ownership has not been resolved," Boston owner John Henry said in an e-mail to The Associated Press.

Mientkiewicz emphasized that he's "doing everything they asked me to do."

"I didn't expect all of this with the ball," he added. "Sometimes in life you think you're doing the right thing and it doesn't turn out that way. That's kind of what happened here. I didn't think it was going to come out to this. Like I said, I gave Derek Lowe the Game 7 ball from the ALCS, and no one seems to want that one."

He already knows what he would do if the Mets come within three outs of a World Series title.

"I'll probably ask before the ninth inning: 'What do you guys want me to do with this?'" he said.

Gatti ready to defend title against Leija

NEW YORK — In a manner matching his aggressive fighting style, Arturo Gatti simply presented his plan for his upcoming title bout against Jesse James Leija.

"I'm going to kill — not to win, to kill," the WBC super lightweight champion said at a news conference Wednesday. "I'm going to win this fight, no doubt about it. Read my lips: No doubt about it."

Gatti is especially known for his action-packed fights. His trilogy with Mickey Ward is touted by many as one of the best rivalries in boxing history, and he is consistently praised for the heart and courage he shows in the ring.

It's that kind of action that fans will be looking for from Saturday night's scheduled 12-round fight at Boardwalk Hall in Atlantic City. The fight will also be telecast as part of HBO's "World Championship Boxing Series."

The 32-year-old Gatti, 38-6 with 29 knockouts, won the title in January 2004, when he defeated Italian Gianluca Branco. He kept the crown in July in a one-punch knockout of previously unbeaten Leonard Dorin.

Leija, 38, is 47-6-2 with 18 knockouts.

FBI agents raid Conte home

SAN FRANCISCO — FBI agents raided the home of alleged steroid dealer Victor Conte and seized e-mail and other records Wednesday as part of an investigation of grand jury testimony leaked in a broad sports-doping scandal, according to newspaper reports.

At least a dozen agents raided Conte's San Mateo, Calif., home before 8 a.m., and within four hours seized a computer, cellular phone and lab records belonging to the founder of the Bay Area Laboratory Co-Operative, the San Francisco Chronicle and San Jose Mercury News reported on their Web sites, each citing sources they did not identify.

The search comes a month after a series of newspaper and news reports about the 2003 grand jury testimony of San Francisco Giants slugger Barry Bonds, New York Yankees first baseman Jason Giambi, and track star Tim Montgomery. Grand jury testimony is supposed to be secret.

According to the newspapers, agents were also looking for items involving track coaches Trevor Graham of Raleigh, N.C., and John Smith of Los Angeles. FBI agents were also trying to find records to prove that Conte leaked information to journalists.

the position they do to put them in a position where they could get a chance to play every day."

Mientkiewicz came up to the major leagues with Minnesota in 1998 and was dealt to the Red Sox last July 31. A career .272 hitter, he slumped to a combined .238 with six homers and 35 RBIs last year for the Twins and Red Sox.

"I'm not 38 years old trying to hang on to a career. I feel like I've got a lot of good years left," Mientkiewicz said. "When I got over there, my intention was to play every day. But under the circumstances, Kevin got hot. I never quite got back in there, but I accepted my role because I knew it would be better for the team. I knew I could do it for three more years."

New York thinks Mientkiewicz will help its young infield, which includes third baseman David Wright, shortstop Jose Reyes and second baseman Kevin Youkilis. "It just makes our defense that much better," Mets general manager Omar Minaya said.

Duke: Terps 'wanted it' more, stole road win

DUKE, FROM BACK PAGE

J.J. Redick led the Blue Devils with 20 points but also had eight turnovers, including two within seconds in the final minutes.

Shelden Williams added 18 points and 14 rebounds.

"You have to take your hats off to Maryland," said Duke guard Daniel Ewing, who was held to nine points. "We didn't match their hunger. They wanted it a little bit more, and that's why they walked out of here with it."

Tor-ranked Illinois (20-0) and No. 8 Boston College (17-0) are the only teams left without a loss.

Duke seemingly was in control early in the second half, taking a pair of eight-point leads, the final one on a layup by Lee Melchioni. Ewing set it up with a nifty touch pass off a rebound, and it was a matter of time before the Terps would get back in the game.

Caner-Medley quickly led the rally. He made two free throws, then followed with a three-point shot and a jumper to cut the margin to four. Later, he added a putback to make it 47-46, and Chris McCray gave the Terps their first lead of the second half with a layup.

That was the first of five lead changes in the final 13½ minutes.

"I just think he overpowered us a few times," Coach K said. "If there's one thing that won the game, it was his desire to win was great. He put on a hell of a performance."

Everesting swished a three to put the Blue Devils ahead 58-54, but Caner-Medley responded with one of his own from several feet beyond the arc, with Redick right in his face. Caner-Medley had his final points from in close with 3:45 left to give Maryland a 64-60 lead, then left for good about 2 minutes later.

Redick had a steal at midcourt and was driving for a layup, with Caner-Medley racing back to try to stop it. They leaped together, and Redick's left-handed attempt never touched the rim.

But Caner-Medley made it only a few steps toward the other end before falling to grab his left ankle in agony. He went to the bench, and after Shavlik Randolph's points in the closing minutes, Redick's left-handed attempt never touched the rim.

"I think that you have to win a game against a quality team during the year to have credibility and believing that you're a good team," Gary Williams said. "I'm not saying that because we won. I just think that those guys have maxed out incredibly well."

"I'm sure they're very proud of what they've done."

Mets get Mientkiewicz, Red Sox get his ball

BY RONALD BLUM

The Associated Press

NEW YORK — This much the New York Mets can count on: Doug Mientkiewicz knows how to hang onto a baseball.

The Mets acquired the former Gold Glove first baseman from the Red Sox on Wednesday for minor league first baseman Ian Bladegreen, and Mientkiewicz said he intends to loan Boston the ball he caught for the final out of the World Series.

The 30-year-old Mientkiewicz, who won the 2001 AL Gold Glove with Minnesota, said Boston asked to have the ball for one year so he could interdict easily.

"There was never a fight, there was never words exchanged. It was very cordial, and we worked something out," he said. "I want the fans to see it, and that's what both the Red Sox and the Mets want. They waited a long time to see that ball and to live it. The fact that it was just so we could

According to Red Sox General Manager Theo Epstein, "the issue was never a factor in this trade or in this negotiating process. We had a baseball decision to make."

New York obtained Mientkiewicz one day after Carlos Beltrán accepted the Florida Marlins' $52 million, four-year offer, spurning a similar proposal from New York.

"I'm honored the fact that I was probably second or third on the list," Mientkiewicz said. "There are things that I bring to the table that he doesn't."

With the Red Sox, Mientkiewicz was used in the postseason as a late-inning replacement for Kevin Millar, the extroverted first baseman whom Epstein called "an integral part of our clubhouse chemistry."

"Both guys are everyday, win-win first basemen in my mind," Epstein said. "I wish you could combine them. But in the end, I think to be fair to both guys it was

BC edges Providence to remain unbeaten

Boston College's Jared Dudley drives to the basket around Providence's Ryan Gomes during the second half on Wednesday. Dudley scored 21 points to help the Eagles extend their unbeaten streak to 17 games.

The Associated Press

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — The Boston College Eagles believe something special is happening this season, and it's not luck, either.

Jared Dudley scored 21 points and hit a three-pointer with 1:20 left to give Boston College the lead, and the No. 8 Eagles remained undefeated with a 78-75 victory over Providence on Wednesday night.

Boston College (17-0, 6-0 Big East) has the best record in school history in the regular season and conference play.

"It's just something about us," Craig Smith, who also scored 21 points, said. "We just have a feeling we can't lose right now. We always go into each game feeling we should win."

Boston College and No. 1 Illinois are the only undefeated teams left in Division I. No. 2 Duke lost for the first time Wednesday night, falling 75-66 to Maryland.

Donnie McGrath led Providence (9-9, 0-5) with 17 points, matching his season high, and made five three-pointers. Leading scorer Ryan Gomes was held to 13 points on 5-for-14 shooting. Providence has lost five straight.

A three-pointer by McGrath gave the Friars a 75-71 lead with 3:19 left in the game. BC's Jeremiah Watson then hit a floater from the baseline to draw the Eagles within two. The teams traded turnovers before Dudley's three-pointer from the left wing put BC in front.

"He's exploded this year," Smith said of Dudley, who also led the Eagles with 12 rebounds and added six assists. "He should be a named player because he's talking about that. That shows how much he has confidence in himself and he's willing to take big shots."

Men's Top 25 Roundup

Providence's Dwight Brewington missed a three-pointer with less than a minute left, but Gomes grabbed the rebound. He whirled in the lane, but got caught in the air with two defenders on him and turned the ball over.

Watson made one free throw to give BC a 77-75 lead, but missed the second to give Providence a chance with 31 seconds left. DeSean White missed a jumper with 10 seconds remaining, and Dudley hit a free throw two seconds later to give Boston College a three-point lead.

White said he was looking for Gomes from the moment he touched the ball.

"By the time I looked down (in the lane), there was a doubt [team] on him, and I had to do something," said White, who finished with eight points. "So, I shot. I make that nine out of 10 times."

After Dudley's free throw, Boston College used a foul to take some time off the clock, and McGrath's three-point attempt was off the mark as time expired.

"Our kids fought hard, but I thought BC did a better job in the last couple of minutes, taking better shots while our kids took some questionable shots," Providence coach Tim Welsh said.

Providence led 41-38 at the break. Two three-pointers by Gomes and a basket by Brewington, followed by a three-pointer by McGrath, gave the Friars their biggest lead of the game at 55-44 less than four minutes into the second half. A three-point play by Smith and two baskets by Sean Marshall got Boston College within four less than two minutes later. Neither team led by more than four points in the final 12 minutes.

"We didn't get in a panic or a frenzy," Watson said. "We just executed. We didn't get nervous. We knew we were going to come back."

No. 12 Louisville 99, Marquette 52: At Louisville, Ky., Larry O'Bannon made six three-pointers and scored 30 points, both career highs, to help Louisville (17-3, 5-1 Conference USA) hand Marquette its worst-ever loss.

Todd Townsend had 17 points for Marquette (14-5, 2-4). The 47-point margin topped the previous mark of 45 in a 57-12 loss to Creighton in 1940.

No. 14 Alabama 60, Auburn 55: At Auburn, Ala., Earnest Shelton scored 22 points and made five late three-pointers to lead Alabama to its fourth straight victory over Auburn.

The Crimson Tide (16-3, 5-1 Southeastern Conference) held on after Auburn (9-9, 0-5) had cut a 15-point deficit to one.

Northwestern 75, No. 23 Iowa 74 (OT): At Evanston, Ill., Michael Jenkins' three-pointer at the overtime buzzer hit the rim, bounced high and fell through to give Northwestern (9-9, 2-4 Big Ten) a stunning victory. The Wildcats rallied from 12 down with 3:27 to go in regulation.

Northwestern's Vedran Vukusic sent it to overtime when he hit three free throws after being fouled on a three-point attempt with 13.8 seconds left. He finished with a career-high 32 points, 13 in the final two minutes of regulation.

Greg Brunner had a career-high 28 points for Iowa (14-5, 2-4).

Huskies continue to climb under Romar

BY TIM KORTE

The Associated Press

SEATTLE — Since he took over at Washington three years ago, coach Lorenzo Romar has regularly cited Arizona as the Pac-10 team program he most wanted to emulate.

Well, just look at those rising Huskies. These days, they share a remarkable resemblance to Lute Olson's Wildcats.

After breaking a five-year NCAA tournament absence last season, Washington (16-2, 6-1) is ranked No. 10 going into Thursday night's showdown at No. 11 Arizona (16-3, 6-1).

In this week's RPI ratings, the Wildcats are No. 6 and the Huskies are No. 7. It's just another area where Romar believes his program is approaching Arizona's level.

"Arizona has been doing what they do for 16 or 17 years," Romar said. "I don't think we'll have to wait another 16 years. If we're able to sustain this for a few more years, then I'll be able to say, 'Yeah, we've elevated it.'"

Washington historically wasn't a force in the Pac-10, yielding to Arizona, Stanford and UCLA. But there's no question the Huskies — a talented, unselfish squad — are contenders now.

They have their best record in 29 years, since coach Mark Hardman's team opened the 1975-76 season 17-1. The Hus-

"They have great depth, and without a doubt they are the most athletic team in the conference, with us being second."

Lute Olson
Arizona coach

kies have won 18 straight at home, the school's longest such streak in 20 years.

"They are playing lights out. They have great depth and without a doubt they are the most athletic team in the conference, with us being second," Olson said. "They have great quickness. We have better size. It will be a good game."

Washington's lineup includes athletic guard Nate Robinson, standout shooter Tre Simmons, defensive stopper Bobby Jones and steady point guard Will Conner. Off the bench, it's rebounder Jamaal Williams.

"Coach Romar has prepared us very well. He has given us a formula to win," Conner said. "It's team chemistry. The set of guys we have, we really like each other. We really believe in each other."

The Huskies also have Brandon Roy, who's back after tearing a knee ligament when Washington won the Great Alaska Shootout in November, beating current Top 25 teams Alabama, Oklahoma and Utah.

Arguably the team's most versatile player, Roy was a Seattle high school star who considered going straight to the NBA. Ultimately, he picked Washington over Arizona.

"My dad said, 'You know if you pass on Arizona and go to Washington, every time Arizona beats you, it's going to eat at you.' So every time I play Arizona, I've got a chip on my shoulder," Roy said with a laugh.

Huskies fans weren't chuckling in recent years when talented in-state players led Jamal Crawford went to Michigan, Donny Marshall to Connecticut and Roy to Ruidour to Oregon. Jason Terry and Michael Dickerson played for Olson at Arizona.

Times are changing, though. Four Huskies starters are from Seattle and the suburbs. In November, Romar's staff landed seven heralded recruits — three key in-state players. One recruiting service listed the class No. 4 in the country.

Forward Jon Brockman from Snohomish, Wash., picked Washington over Duke, and forward Martell Webster of Seattle Prep is considered the Pac-10's top incoming recruit and No. 5 in the nation by one scouting service.

"If we had a losing season last year, we'd still have been able to get some good players but not nearly the class we have,"

In his third year at Washington, Lorenzo Romar is getting his program closer to emulating Arizona, Thursday's opponent.

Romar said. "It shows we're headed in the right direction. People are starting to believe in us."

Win or lose in the desert this week, the Huskies are rising.

They've won 12 of their last 13, including three straight. Arizona is remarkably similar, winning four in a row and 13 of 14.

"Our goal wasn't to finish eighth every year," Romar said. "Our goal was eventually to be in contention to win the Pac-10."

Just like Arizona.

T.O.'s ankle gives media something to gnaw on

Let's just hand the Super Bowl MVP award to Terrell Owens right now. Even if he doesn't play a single down for the Philadelphia Eagles in the big game, he will deserve it. Even the New England Patriots win, Owens should be the one.

Remember, the media vote on these things, and his attempt to become the latest Curt Schilling, Willis Reed or Kirk Gibson creates a much-needed topic for discussion. The industry has hours of video and yards of paper to fill, and the status of Owens' busted ankle is real drama, if not real news.

Will he play or won't he?

The coach says no on it.

The doctor says no.

The coach backs up.

The trainer says maybe.

Owens says he'll be there, because he has been healed spiritually.

Owens jogs at practice. Trainer says "our risk-reward is different than the doctor's risk-reward."

The story has already been inflated to the point of bursting. By next week, football fans everywhere will recognize the Eagles' trainer as a member of the family, a fixture in their living rooms. The coverage will be incessant, every day, every hour — even if it means nothing more than repeatedly replaying Wednesday's news conference.

Gwen Knapp

There will be no time-out on T.O.

But if he has spared reporters a trip to see the long snapper's second cousin who whittles Popsicle sticks into images of Paul Tagliabue, the two will be grateful.

The two weeks between the conference championships and the Super Bowl require some kind of distraction, regardless of what the coaches like to say. And for the Eagles, the distraction may be even more valuable than a healthy Owens.

They are playing a team that will be in its third Super Bowl in four years. For the Patriots, professional detachment from the hype of the game is possible. They're unlikely to be overwhelmed by the reality of it. But if the Eagles try to treat the Super Bowl like any other game, they will be deluding themselves. The tension needs to be broken, and the T.O. debate could be just the right hammer.

Several of the Eagles have already made it clear that they do not appreciate the suggestions that they need to win. They are still being judged by their performance in last year's NFC title game, in which their receivers were knocked around by Carolina's defensive backs. But the team overall is much better this year, because of the addition of Jevon Kearse on the defensive line and the good health of multi-dimensional running back Brian Westbrook.

Owens added to the offense, but he has also been given credit for upping the swagger factor in the locker room. In a weird way, his absence may have done just as much for the team's confidence. The Eagles won two playoff games without him, including Sunday's dismantling of Atlanta, which committed just one turnover and still couldn't stay with the Eagles.

In Jacksonville, they will be feeding off the athlete's favorite energy source — perceived disrespect. If they take the field without T.O., after hearing and reading about him all week, they won't miss him nearly as much as most pundits believe. (The athlete's friend Chad Lewis is a more urgent problem.)

If Owens does come out, they will get an emotional lift, but the real issue will be whether he is healthy enough to play at or close to his peak. If not, will Andy Reid have the courage to keep him on the sideline, or use him sporadically as a decoy?

Owens

That's what we get to ponder for the next 10 days, and the Patriots will surely appreciate it. The hot air in advance of the game will blow more toward the Eagles, giving the Pats room to breathe. They get to continue being Patriots, the reigning champions, excellent in all the little ways that media day doesn't begin to explain.

With two weeks between the Super Bowl and the conference championships games, T.O. can't really be like other gimpy would-be champs. The game before Schilling's Game 6 victory in the ALCS, the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees played for 5 hours, 49 minutes. The game before that, they played for 5 hours, 2 minutes. Reporters and fans barely had time to catch their breath before Schilling took the mound on an ankle leaking blood.

For the Super Bowl, there is too much time, not enough information, and barely any action. An investigative reporter might try to catch one of the coaches in a smile, but it won't make much of a story. No one likes a scoreless tie. So it's T.O. to the rescue, possibly for the Eagles, definitely for the media.

Gwen Knapp is a columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle.

Cowher's vow: 'This group will get back up'

By ALAN ROBINSON

The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH — Pittsburgh Steelers coach Bill Cowher isn't ready to forget about 16 victories just because of another bad play off loss.

On Wednesday, the defiant Cowher said the Steelers' 41-27 loss to New England on Sunday will be springboard to more successes, not a stopping point for a franchise that lost its fourth AFC championship game at home in 11 seasons.

Cowher, no doubt aware his team is being dismissed again for its inability to win a big game, said these Steelers set a high standard for his future teams with their unselfishness and ability to overcome adversity.

"Please do not allow the one game to define this season," Cowher said. "To finish 16-2, 15-1 in the regular season, and win 15 straight games is quite an achievement."

The Steelers manhandled Super Bowl finalists New England and Philadelphia on consecutive weeks during the season, but became only the second NFL team to go 15-1 and to reach the Super Bowl, joining the 1998 Minnesota Vikings.

The one-sided loss in the rematch against New England on Sunday resulted in an emotional team meeting. The move visibly deflated the largest home crowd in Steelers history and, with Pittsburgh's momentum suddenly halted, the Patriots scored the next 10 points.

"It was a very close, football team, which made the hurt that much more," Cowher said. "I have always said I believe the measure of any one person or group of people should be how many times you get knocked down, it should be how many times you get back up."

"This group will get back up. This is not the end. In my mind, it is the beginning."

Cowher did not deny the repeated failure in conference championship games or strategic criticism of Sunday's loss, including his much-criticized decision to kick a field goal early in the fourth quarter with the Steelers in position to close within 34-27.

The move visibly deflated the largest home crowd in Steelers history and, with Pittsburgh's momentum suddenly halted, the Patriots scored the next 10 points.

Bill Cowher said, "I have always said I believe the measure of any one person or group of people should not be how many times you get knocked down, it should be how many times you get back up."

AP

"Life is full of disappointments," Cowher said. "Sometimes we wonder why. But ours is not to wonder why, ours is to continue to try. We will do that."

The Steelers' roster is bound to change, with line-backer Kendrick Bell and wide receiver Plaxico Burress among those likely to leave as free agents. Running back Jerome Bettis hasn't decided if he will return for a 13th NFL season.

But Cowher expects his assistant coaches to return — a change from a year ago, when offensive coordinator Mike Mularkey left to become Buffalo's head coach and defensive coordinator, and Tim Lewis was fired.

Cowher also said Ben Roethlisberger did not break two toes on his right foot, as the rookie said Tuesday. The quarterback might have mildly aggravated a toe injury that occurred in high school or college but does not need treatment, Cowher said.

The Steelers' ability to overcome numerous injuries by having backups step in and play like starters caused Cowher to re-evaluate his previous policy that a starter should lose his job to injury. Maddox, Bell, running back Duce Staley and cornerback Chad Scott were among those who didn't return to the lineup after becoming healthy.

"I understand somebody getting frustrated by it or upset by it but, at the same time, (if somebody comes in playing well and you're playing well as a team, I don't want you to suggest that)," Cowher said.

Despite the Steelers' numerous injuries, only backup tight end Matt Cushing (wrist) and running back Verron Haynes (knee) needed offseason surgery.

Cowher, like Roethlisberger and offensive coordinator Ken Whisenand, also wants Burress back, though it seems likely he will sign elsewhere. Burress and Cowher had a long talk following Monday's meeting.

"I think he's matured as a person, (with) his work ethic and his approach to the game," Cowher said. "If that was the last time I talked to him, I wanted him to know how I felt."

Ravens RB Lewis gets four-month jail term

The Associated Press

ATLANTA — Baltimore Ravens running back Jamal Lewis was sentenced to four months in prison Wednesday for using a cell phone to try to set up a cocaine deal about 4½ years ago.

The penalty, worked out with prosecutors in October, should allow Lewis to return to the Ravens well before the start of the 2005 season. At most, he might miss the opening of training camp.

He also will spend two months in a halfway house and perform 500 hours of community service following his prison term.

Lewis pleaded guilty to trying to set up the drug deal a few months after the Ravens chose him No. 5 overall in the 2000 NFL Draft. No drugs were exchanged.

Prosecutors agreed to drop more serious drug conspiracy and attempted cocaine possession charges.

"I'm truly sorry for what I did," Lewis said to U.S. District Judge Orlando Evans.

Explaining the short sentence, the judge said the government didn't have a strong case and noted the only witness against Lewis was an informant with a lengthy criminal record.

Evans said she was also giving Lewis "credit for stepping up to the bar" and admitting his guilt.

The football player has until Feb. 4 to surrender to allow him time to have a cast removed from his right ankle, the judge said.

Lewis recently had surgery on the right ankle.

Evans said he will recommend that Lewis serve his time at a federal prison in Maryland or the Federal House in Montgomery, Ala.

If Lewis reports at the latest possible date and does not get time off for good behavior, the earliest he would be released from the halfway house would be Aug. 4.

The Ravens said the team would not be commenting on Lewis' sentence.

Tollner joins Lions as offensive coordinator

ALLEN PARK, Mich. — The Detroit Lions hired Ted Tollner as offensive coordinator on Wednesday, reuniting him with head coach Steve Mariucci.

The 64-year-old Tollner replaced Sherman Lewis, who retired after the regular season. Tollner was offensive coordinator for San Francisco's last year and quarterbacks coach for the 49ers from 2002-2003.

Four replacements added to Pro Bowl rosters

Atlanta Falcons return specialist Allen Rossum was selected to the NFC Pro Bowl squad Wednesday as an injury replacement for Detroit's Reggie Drummond.

Miami Dolphins cornerback Patrick Surtain was added to the AFC squad, replacing injured Baltimore Ravens cornerback Chris McClinton.

Pittsburgh Steelers defensive end Aaron Smith and offensive tackle Marvel Smith also were added to the AFC team on Wednesday.

Aaron Smith replaces New York Jets defensive end John Abraham (knee), and Marvel Smith replaces Minnesota City Chiefs offensive tackle Willie Roaf (ankle).

Hollywood ending: Housing developer gets a cameo

Jeff Thomason had been out of the NFL since 2002 before getting a call to replace injured Eagles tight end Chad Lewis. The 35-year-old is a project manager in training for a housing developer.

BY STEVE WILSTEIN
The Associated Press

Jeff Thomason awoke Wednesday morning and shook his wife.

"Hon," he said, "I had an incredible dream last night."

"You're not dreaming," his wife, Blake, said. "It's really happening."

Most days, Thomason worked 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., sitting at his desk, talking on the phone, meeting with subcontractors, going over the thousands of details involved in building and marketing a community of homes.

No one cheered him, but then again no one tackled him and he didn't have to throw any blocks. He had settled into a quieter life than he had known as a tight end in the NFL. He was learning, he said, "how hard it is to earn a buck in the real world."

On this day when dreams and reality merged, Thomason donned a helmet in his first practice for the Super Bowl-bound Philadelphia Eagles — 11 days before the game.

He wore No. 85 and took the roster spot of his good friend and former Eagles teammate Chad Lewis, who hurt his foot on his second touchdown catch in Philadelphia's 27-10 victory Sunday over Atlanta in the NFC title game.

Lewis called on Monday, saying he wanted Thomason to play for him in the Super Bowl. After calls from other coaches and a quick workout, Thomason was an Eagle again.

He studied films Wednesday morning, ran drills in the afternoon, did interviews in between as photographers captured his incessant smile and the stars in his eyes, the years after he had played the last of his 10 NFL seasons.

He was suddenly cast in a Hollywood ending for a solid, if unspectacular career he thought was over. Against all odds, a second Super Bowl ring was in his grasp. He couldn't stop beaming.

His wife, his 9-year-old daughter Taylor, his co-workers, everyone he knew was "going crazy," he said, about this unexpected chance of a lifetime.

Stories said Thomason had a construction job, but he wasn't doing any heavy lifting. He didn't hammer nails, lay bricks or run a backhoe. He used his brain more than his considerable brawn. As a project manager in training for the housing developer Toll Brothers, he was a desk man who donned a hard hat only when he walked the building site.

He could've gone soft doing that kind of work, but he chose instead to stay super fit training for triathlons — for the sake of his health, his competitive juices and just in case one day a team called out of nowhere and said, hey, we need a little help.

If that call came, he was ready, having competed in a half-dozen Olympic-style triathlons, shorter than the Ironman version, but still grueling with 1.5-kilometer swims, 40-kilometer bike rides and 10-kilometer runs.

But one season went by, then another, and he turned 35 on Dec. 30. By then, he and Blake had three children: Taylor, 3-year-old Lily, and 1-year-old Beau. Thomason had committed himself fully to a career as a real estate developer.

His office in Chesterfield, N.J., is undomated by memorabilia from his NFL days — three years at the end with Philadelphia, five with Green Bay before that, and two at the start with Cincinnati in 1992. There are no photos on the walls of his two Super Bowl games with the Packers.

"Unless you know him well, you don't know that he played football," Toll Brothers project manager Michael Assosky says. "It's the last thing to come out of his mouth unless he's asked about it."

"He's just a humble guy, a team player. His work ethic and discipline are outstanding. Those are definitely traits that are common to his prior profession and his new one."

As badly as Thomason felt about the injury to Lewis, he leapt at the chance to make a one-game comeback in the Super Bowl. He loved his new day job, but he could hardly resist suiting up one more time.

"I think I'm still floating," Thomason said before the first practice.

Life, like a football, takes funny bounces.

Some great players never play in a Super Bowl. Some rather ordinary players have been lucky enough to get to one in their first season.

Some work hard all year, pounding and getting pounded week after a week, only to miss the big game with an injury. One man's misfortune being another's opportunity, some players slip fortuitously into the spotlight.

It happened two weeks ago to cornerback Hank Poteat, who had been taking classes at the University of Pittsburgh, when he joined the New England Patriots. Out of the NFL since being released by Carolina in the preseason, Poteat took injured Ty Law's roster spot and played well as a reserve in two playoff games.

Thomason was a logical choice to fill in as a reserve for the Eagles. He played with them for three years, knew their offense well, and had trained under coach Andy Reid when he was an assistant to Mike Holmgren on the Packers' Super Bowl teams.

Hero, goat or bystander in this Super Bowl, Thomason does not worry or wonder why.

"I'm just thrilled to have an opportunity," he said. "If I play two plays or 20 plays, I want to be in there and do whatever I can."

"The crazy thing is two weeks from today, I'll be back at a desk, thinking, 'What did I just go through?'"

ONLY IN A Jeep

Exchange NOW CAR SALES

2005 All-New Jeep Grand Cherokee

SUPER KICKOFF

NOW February 6th

Visit us on base and enter for a chance to win* a

Las Vegas "halftime show" with Celine Dion

Quarterbacks Of The Century signed football helmet

42" Plasma TV or

$300 gift certificate for signed sports memorabilia.

Ask about the ALL-NEW 2005 Jeep Grand Cherokee

◆ Special Military rebates on select 2005 models

◆ HUGE discounts on remaining 2004 models

Plus FREE giveaways! Visit our web site at www.encs.com

NEX Navy Exchange

Exchange NOW CAR SALES

AAFES Army & Air Force Exchange Service

*No purchase necessary to enter. See complete rules and regulations at all participating locations. Las Vegas "halftime show" scheduled subject to extended courtesy of Danjaq/Jerry Bruckheimer Corporation. (19th) supplies list. All programs and guarantees are subject to terms and conditions. See your sales representative for details. All distributions and specifications are to the best of our knowledge correct as of the date of publication. They are subject to changes made by the manufacturer and the federal and regional government agencies. Toll: General Motors, Chrysler, Ford, General Motors, Chrysler, Harley-Davidson and Honda vehicles. This advertisement does not imply endorsement by AAFES, NEXCOM, the DOD components of the Federal Government and is not sponsored by them. (C 407)

SPORTS

Injured Owens deserves an MVP award for helping fill a two-week void, Page 34

Duke gets dumped

Alumni-inspired Terps upset No. 2 Blue Devils

BY KEITH PARSONS

The Associated Press

DURHAM, N.C. — Maryland coach Gary Williams brought in a few experts before facing second-ranked Duke.

Former stars Steve Blake, Juan Dixon and Laron Profit visited practice this week, giving the current Terrapins a few lessons. They talked about having fun, about believing in themselves and about giving a full effort against the undefeated Blue Devils.

"That was huge," forward Nik Caner-Medley said. "That was the hardest we practiced all year."

Caner-Medley and his teammates carried that message to the game, giving Maryland an improbable upset.

The junior had 25 points before leaving with an ankle injury, and Travis Garrison and Ekene Ibekwe finished off the Blue Devils at the free-throw line in a 75-66 victory Wednesday night.

The Terrapins (12-5, 3-3 Atlantic Coast Conference) lost three of their previous five games, all by at least 15 points. But they hung with Duke (15-1, 5-1) throughout and allowed only two points in the final 3½ minutes.

"I just thought they played a little bit harder than we did," Blue Devils coach Mike Krzyzewski said. "We didn't have the attitude that we've had the entire year. This team has to have an edge all the time."

Ibekwe gave Maryland the lead for good with a tough layup in traffic off an in-bounds play set up by Williams during a timeout.

That made it 66-64 with 1:23 left, and the Blue Devils had no answer.

Daniel Ewing missed badly on a three-pointer, and Garrison started a parade at the line for the Terps. Garrison was 5-for-6 in the final minute and Ibekwe was 4-for-4 to close it out.

"It was all about the players," Williams said. "We struggled a little bit this year with our identity, for whatever reason, and I'll take responsibility for it, but we do have pride in our program."

Ibekwe came off the bench for the first time this season and scored 15 points. John Gilchrist had 10 for Maryland.

"To be on a big stage like this and get the win is huge," Caner-Medley said. "My teammates had so much heart. I really was impressed with them."

SEE DUKE ON PAGE 32

Maryland's Chris McCray gets a slam dunk over Duke's Lee Melchioni during the second half of the Terps' upset victory Wednesday at Cameron Indoor Stadium.

Highs and lows Down Under

Top-seeded Roger Federer, left, had his 26-match winning streak stopped by Marat Safin in a classic 4½-hour match in the Australian Open semifinals. Serena Williams, right, also played a memorable match, beating Maria Sharapova in a third-set tiebreaker. See details on Page 29.

BC escapes Providence with 17th straight win
Page 33

Determined James overcomes injury to aid Cavs' win
Page 31

Five tied atop crowded leader board at Hope Page 27

